MUSH! Karl Segal of Lawrence Court, Wilmington, has a two-dog powered bike, with kid in tow. Drew Ryan, 17 months old, was sound asleep as dad, Rusty (the brown dog in the foreground) and Keisha rolled and ran down Glen Road on Monday. Originally designed to give exercise to the two dogs, they seem to enjoy it so much Karl has made it regular transportation. (Stu Neilson photo)

Plans filed for Inwood Office Park

By JAMES HAGGERTY

WILMINGTON - The Inwood Office Park, which for years has been targeted to be built and opened near Wilmington's border, has taken one more step closer towards becoming a reality.

In Woburn last week, developer Edward Callan officially submitted his proposal for the park, which would feature five buildings covering 850,000 square feet of office space. The buildings will likely range in height from three to six stories. The park will be located just off Route 93 at Route 129 in the northeast corner of Woburn, at its border with Wilmington and Reading.

For quite some time now, motorists driving Route 93 about a mile north of the Route 128 intersection has seen the clearing of the lot and the development of the infrastructure for the park, including roadways. With that work finally complete, the way was paved for the buildings' plans to be officially submitted.

Such news will likely not be greeted warmly by some Wilmington residents, for they may see their commuter headaches and traffic

Student faces felony charges

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Three charges have been brought against the 16-year-old student who wrote a bomb threat on a bathroom wall at Wilmington High School on Monday, April 30.

The student was arraigned at Woburn District Court on Wednesday, May 2, shortly after he admitted committing the crime to Wilmington High School Principal Edward Woods. Earlier that day, Principal Woods received an anonymous call informing him that the student was the author of the threat.

The student is facing charges of defacing public property, disturbing a school assembly and making a bomb threat. The third charge is a felony, which could lead to time spent in prison if the student is convicted.

According to Wilmington Inspector Pat King, the student does not have a police record, a fact that could shape court proceedings and affect the punishment dealt if the suspect is convicted. There remains a chance, however, that, if convicted, the student could go to the Department of Youth Services until he is eighteen and then be transferred to state prison for a few more years.

According to Inspector King, the student, if convicted, could also be ordered to pay restitution to the people who have been involved with the investigation of the threat.

ConCom swimming in pool requests

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - Many of the items on the agenda at the April 26 Conservation Commission were completed this time around. Almost all of the night's Requests for Determination were approved, chief among them those for pool installations, which makes for good timing, given the warm weather lately.

Specifically, here is a summary of what transpired at the meeting:

- A resident on LAWRENCE STREET applied for a Request for Determination, in order to fill, grade and landscape their back yard. A fence will be installed on the side of the property and shrubs and bushes will be planted along the wetland line.

The commission made a negative determination, or an approval, with conditions. Assistant Director of Planning and Conservation John Keeley will provide guidance to determining wetland boundaries.

- A resident on BRADFORD ROAD is hoping to get a jump on the summer weather by installing an above-ground pool. The applicant's Request for Determination included the property owner's hopes to clear the intended area.

Mr. Keeley noted that the intended location is wooded, so trees would have to be cut to install the pool. The wetlands, however, are 40 feet from the proposed location of the pool.

The commission issued a negative determination with typical pool conditions and included a clause regarding tree debris being hauled off-site for disposal.

- On SALEM STREET, a resident attended the meeting and proposed

Michael Gore heading "Down Under"

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Look out, Crocodile Dundee.

In July, Wilmington teenager Michael Gore will be travelling to Australia. He won't be going to wrestle crocodiles, chase kangaroos or audition for a remake of "Survivor Outback." Instead, Michael will be going Down Under to do what he does naturally: shoot hoops.

Recently, Michael received a letter in the mail from People to People Sports Ambassadors. Founded in 1956 by President Dwight Eisenhower, it is an organization that allows young American athletes to go head-to-head with formidable competitors from around the globe. Michael, you see, will be representing the United States in an international basketball tournament that will take place in Australia and New Zealand.

Specifically, the tournament is a three-week program known as the Kanga Classic. The referee will first blow the whistle on Monday, July 9.

How does all of this make Michael feel?

"It's great," he says. "I get to represent our country and play basketball around the world."

Not bad for a guy who has only played basketball-related travelling has been confined to games played Connecticut, New Hampshire and elsewhere throughout Massachusetts. Not bad, as well, for a kid who has never been outside of New England, either.

Fifteen-year-old Michael, who plays power forward and center, has played basketball since he was in the first grade.

"It's a fast-paced game," he says. "It's unique, and I can't get enough of it."

According to Mark P. Bass, a sport program manager of the Washington-based organization,

Michael was selected to do his country proud on the basketball court because he has "an ability to contribute to the success of his team and to meet the challenge of serving as a representative of the United States of America, his community and school."

Of course, this trip of a lifetime -- heck, this basketball game of a lifetime -- costs more than your average teenager has in his savings account. Some of the expense, of course, Michael and his parents can cover. As for the rest, Michael is requesting a little bit of home town spirit from the folks he hopes to represent.

Says Michael, "I am hoping to differ the cost of this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity by asking for tax deductible donations."

That's the good part. All donations can be deducted when Uncle Same comes calling around again next April.

Honoring those who helped the Landers

By STACEY E. STEVENS

WILMINGTON - It's never too late. Just ask Wilmington resident David Landers, who hung in there for more than 30 years in his desire to publicly commemorate the local people who made a difference in his family's survival when their house burned down in 1969.

As a result, 32 years later, a new wooden plaque now rests proudly on one of the walls in the lobby of Winchester Hospital's Family Medical Center in Wilmington. The plaque honors everyone who collectively contributed a total of $25,000 to Landers and his family after the blaze claimed their home and the lives of his wife, Nancy, and five of their children.

The inscription on the plaque, which was dedicated last week, is as follows: "In memory of contributions made to the original building fund in memory of Nancy S. Landers and her children, David Jr., William, Kevin, Lisa and Kathleen, September 29, 1969."

Landers, two of his surviving children and five of his eight grandchildren were on hand for the dedication.

Mrs. Lillian Woodside, a pharmacist, community leader and the driving force behind the establishment of the Wilmington Regional Health Center, spearheaded the fundraising efforts all those years ago. Mrs. Woodside, who passed away in 1977, faithfully recorded the names and contributions of all donors and sent them to the Town Crier, where they were listed on a weekly basis.

Mrs. Woodside also headed up a committee, whose goal was to build a hospital here in Wilmington, complete with a burn unit. The hospital was to have been built on the Lowell Street acreage opposite where Burger King stands today, but, unfortunately, her dream never

GRATEFUL. At the Wilmington Regional Health Center, there's a new plaque on the wall in the lobby. It's there to commemorate all of the good-hearted Wilmington people who donated their time and money to help the Landers family in the wake of the fire that tragically took lives in 1969. Above, David Landers, right, admires the plaque with two of his children who survived the blaze, Michael Landers, left, and Susan McNamara, center. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Miceli retains grant to preserve town forest

WILMINGTON - Since as early as 1973, one of Representative Jim Miceli's primary concerns has been preserving historical sites in the towns for which he represents. Lately, it has become apparent that open space is quickly disappearing in Wilmington, where building has been on the rise as a result of escalating prices for real estate.

Representative Miceli has always believed that the Wilmington Town Forest is a very important historical site and environmental landmark that should be both preserved for future generations, and accessible for environmental education and appreciation.

In a noteworthy accomplishment, including valuable collaboration with officials from the Town of Wilmington, the Department of Environmental Management, and others, Jim Miceli was able to retain a grant for $150,000 to preserve and enhance the Wilmington Town Forest. This generous grant will be allocated in numerous ways, including the addition of trails so that access to the forest is simpler, a system for waste removal, improvement of the parking lot area, purchasing of tools for the continued maintenance of the forest, and an installation of benches and waysides for environmental education stops and appreciation. Additionally, the grant money will be used to help eliminate hazardous trees and implement a long term operation management plan that will help protect, manage and enhance the forest on a daily basis and into the future.

Finally, all of these improvements will be possible because this grant has solidified a partnership between the Department of Environmental Management, the Town of Wilmington and the Open Space Committee. Thus, from now on the Town Forest will be safe from degradation, lack of management, and the threat of demolition.

Wilmington Rotary Club announces 2001 scholarships

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Rotary Club has announced its intention to distribute $17,000 in scholarship money to Wilmington residents who are graduating from high school with the Class of 2001. These grants consist of one $4,000 scholarship, one $3,000 scholarship, one $2,000 scholarship and three $1,000 scholarships. In addition, this year, one $2,000 scholarship and three $1,000 scholarships in the memory of Claire M. Peterson will also be awarded. These scholarships are open to all Wilmington residents regardless of high school attended.

Over the past 12 years, the Wilmington Rotary Club has distributed over $209,000.00 in scholarship funds to Wilmington residents, and is extremely proud to continue

It's Your Money

HOW TO INVEST IN A NEW BUSINESS

When friends or family invite you to invest in a new business, it's smart to do it so that taxes will be as low as possible in case of profit and deductions will be greater in case of a loss.

If you buy stock, a success may add to your taxable estate, and a loss deduction not offset by capital gains is limited to $3,000 against ordinary income. But if the investment qualifies as Section 1244 stock—and many small business do—losses are fully deductible. Preferred stock pays dividends but leaves most of any appreciation to younger owners, possibly your own children.

If you lend money to the business, you get repaid first, even before any preferred stock owners, the business gets to deduct the payments, and there's no appreciation to your estate. But if the business fails, the loss is probably a capital loss, with the same limits discussed above. If you do lend money, be sure the loan is documented, especially if it's to a family member.

Alcohol Awareness Month As Prom Night Nears

Sometimes a reader will hand to me a story that they came across that affected them deeply. Last week, a good friend of ours here at the Town Crier passed along to me an essay written by a parent who wished to convey to their child the need to be careful when celebrating momentous occasions with friends. It was a piece published in an Ann Landers column, which he clipped from another newspaper back in September of 1998.

Proms are right around the corner. In Tewksbury, high school seniors will be donning their tuxedos and gowns on Friday, June 1. In Wilmington, they'll be doing so even sooner, on Friday, May 18.

With those two dates in mind, I'd like to print for you the following message, which was written by a Larry Simoneaux in Edmonds, Washington. Since I am not yet a parent myself, Larry's words could probably articulate more accurately than mine could what is in the minds of many moms and dads as their children get fitted for tuxes, try on their dresses and get reservations ready for the limousine.

It was a letter submitted to Ann Landers by Simoneaux shortly after his home town experienced the death of two teenagers in a drinking-and-driving incident on graduation night. In the spirit of Alcohol Awareness Month, here it is:

I don't know what it feels like to hear the words that two sets of parents received this past weekend. Like every other parent, I don't ever want to know. I'm not sure I am strong enough to handle it.

So, this is to the teenagers. It's a message and a prayer. It's from us to you.

We were once just like you - just as young and daring. We were once sure our parents hadn't a clue as to what we wanted or what we were about. We were once sure we could tackle the world. We were once, down deep, scared to death to face that world. We were once just like you.

The only real difference between us as parents and you as teenagers is a lot of "been theres, done thats." And, believe me, a lot of our "done thats" were just as dumb and silly and dangerous and exciting as anything you've done or will do. That's why we worry.

We made it through. We got older. We fell in love. We got married. We had you. That means we sat up endless nights while you were a baby. We changed you when you were wet. We fed you when you were hungry. We held you when you cried. We fretted over you when you were sick.

We watched you take your first step. We made stupid faces to see you laugh. We listened to your first words. We bragged about you at work. We carried pictures of you in our wallets and put others on our desks.

We sent you off to your first day at school. We kept your drawings and school projects. We put your birthday cards on the refrigerator. We watched you in your first play. We cheered for you when you made the team. We drove you everywhere. We worried about whether you'd be popular, and then, when you were, we worried about your friends.

We were angry when we shouldn't have been. We asked you questions that we shouldn't have. We made mistakes and hurt your feelings. We didn't say "I love you" or "I'm sorry" often enough. We argued with you. We laughed with you. We stayed awake in bed and worried when you stayed out later than your curfew.

We watched you change before our eyes into strong young men and women who were about to leave us. We were scared and happy and sorry at the same time.

We want to see you become firefighters and doctors and lawyers and police officers, merchants, pilots, beauticians, teachers, librarians and forest rangers. We want to talk with you about how exciting your work is. We want to listen to you tell us how dumb or mean your boss is.

We want to see you meet the man or woman of your dreams. We want to see you fall in love and do the same crazy things we did. We want you to get married. We want to pass you a few dollars to help you through the rough spots. We want to see you have children and watch you start all of this all over again.

The thing that we're most afraid of is that, sometimes, those things that we worry about happen. Sometimes, for no rhyme or reason, you're taken from us by bad things beyond our control. Sometimes, we never get to see or do the things I've talked about because you're not here anymore - and that is a hurt that cannot be described.

So, this is for you, the teenagers out there. It's the same thing parents have said to their children forever. It's the same thing that you'll say to your children. They'll feel the same way about hearing it from you as you do when you hear it from us.

Please. Be careful.

We love you.

You're all we really have.

Senator Tucker: Unless "radically altered," land swap bill will "sit and die" in Senate

Dear Editor:

The following is a copy of the letter that I sent to all Tewksbury residents who have contacted me regarding the proposed land swap bill on Livingston Street:

Thank you for contacting me with your views on the proposed land swap. After listening to you as well as hundreds of other local residents who took the time to speak with my staff and myself on this issue, I fully understand the range of opinions of all involved.

I want to make my position on this issue very clear. I have said since the beginning that the town and its citizens need to be deeply involved with any proposal to develop State Hospital land. In contrast to the House of Representatives, which engrossed the land swap bill on April 23rd and then passed the bill on to the State Senate, I will block Senate action indefinitely on this bill. It is obvious that the proposed Livingston Street project has very little support from local residents and should no longer be considered. Unless the proposed land swap bill is radically altered by the town, the bill will sit and die in the Senate.

It is also obvious that local residents and town leaders need to develop some agreement on what any future use of State Hospital land should look like. To help begin the dialogue, I co-hosted a public forum on April 26th so the community would have a chance to listen to differing points of view, and for me to gain substantive input from residents and local leaders.

This forum made it clear that while Tewksbury may be unable to reach unanimous agreement on what future use of State Hospital land should look like, we must continue to explore all possibilities in developing a solution that most citizens and town leaders can agree is in the best interest of the community. One prudent course of action would be for town leaders to put together a diverse group of local residents to explore various alternatives. As I stated at the forum, Tewksbury's best defense against a state-imposed plan by the Governor is to develop a proactive plan of its own that includes all stakeholders and that both balances and links the town's future open-space needs with a controlled housing plan.

I recognize this is no small challenge. However, I also know there are many dedicated people in town waiting to be asked to help meet this challenge, regardless of their past differences. As your Senator, I will assist this effort in any way possible.

In addition to blocking Senate action indefinitely on the land swap bill, I will also argue vigorously on Tewksbury's behalf for proposed changes to the Comprehensive Permit (40B) Law at the upcoming State House hearing on May 16th. There are several issues that must be addressed to make the 40B Law fairer and more workable.

I caution you not to wait and consider any of the suggested changes to the 40B Law as a "solution" to the proposed land swap. At a time when the lack of affordable housing is profoundly affecting every business and every economic strata in Massachusetts (except the very wealthy), there is tremendous resistance to any perceived weakening of the 40B Comprehensive Permit law. The statewide crisis in our housing stock has been the subject of every newspaper's editorial page as well as a focus of Cardinal Bernard Law, area churches, and business leaders who cannot attract employees to Massachusetts because of housing costs.

Just as I will continue to listen to you, it is equally vital that local residents and town leaders listen to one another to address this significant challenge before the community. As your Senator, I am committed to working with you to ensure that Tewksbury's community vision is carried to the State House. Unless the proposed land swap bill is radically altered to reflect that vision, the bill will sit and die in the Senate.

Again, thank you for taking the time to share your views with me. I value your ideas on this issue as well as any other matter before the Legislature.

Very best regards,
Sue Tucker
State Senator

Dear Editor:

During this week of May 6 through 12 we are honoring the men and women who perform the thankless job of a corrections officer.

The job of a corrections officer is not an easy one. Twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, these brave men and women are responsible for the orderly behavior, transfer and daily routines of the criminals that society says can no longer be allowed out in public. The dangerousness of their duties can not be overstated. One recent occupational study indicated that only professional race car drivers have a higher incidence of job-related mortality.

Our corrections officers perform a dangerous, thankless job. They truly are the Silent Guardians of Law Enforcement.

During National Corrections Officer Week, I hope we can all take a moment to appreciate the bravery and professionalism of our corrections officers and wish them years of safety and success in life and on the job.

Very truly yours,
James V. DiPaola
Middlesex County Sheriff

Linda Covino Realty Executives Broker/Owner attends Regional Conference

WILMINGTON - Linda Covino attended the Realty Executive Broker/Owner conference last week at the Realty Executives New England Corporate Office in Hyannis. At the conference Broker/Owners reviewed their achievements for 2000 and planned for 2001.

For the sixth year in a row RE New England has shown growth in sales, agents and offices. Last year RE New England sold over $450,000,000 in real estate. There are now over 170 agents across southern New England working in 18 Realty Executives offices.

"We anticipate selling more than a half billion dollars in real estate this year," said Tim Waldron, Regional Director for Realty Executives. "And by the end of the year we should have over 200 agents," he finished.

Realty Executives continues to be one of the fastest growing real estate franchises in New England. Nationally, Realty Executives has over 8,000 agents in over 600 offices. Locally, Realty Executives operates under the name Realty Executives Northeast and is located at 22 Lowell Street, Wilmington. Realty Executives Northeast services a 2 mile radius North of the Boston Area.

Linda Covino Realty Executives Broker/Owner attends Regional Conference

WILMINGTON - Linda Covino attended the Realty Executive Broker/Owner conference last week at the Realty Executives New England Corporate Office in Hyannis. At the conference Broker/Owners reviewed their achievements for 2000 and planned for 2001.

$450,000,000 in real estate. There are now over 170 agents across southern New England working in 18 Realty Executives offices.

"We anticipate selling more than a half billion dollars in real estate this year," said Tim Waldron, Regional Director for Realty Executives. "And by the end of the year we should have over 200 agents," he finished.

Realty Executives continues to be one of the fastest growing real estate franchises in New England. Nationally, Realty Executives has over 8,000 agents in over 600 offices. Plans filed for Inwood Office Park concerns increase. Though the park will sit almost directly across from the new interchange to Commerce Way from Route 93, access to the location will be further to the north via Route 129 to West Street in Reading.

In other words, Lowell Street in Wilmington will likely see a dramatic increase in traffic as employees at the five new office buildings come and go.

Says Callan, "This important new interchange at Commerce Way will not access Inwood directly, but it will greatly improve the traffic circulation in the immediate area."

Callan notes that he is already well on his way with the process to approve his plans for the park. He has received an Order of Conditions from the Woburn Conservation Commission, as well as some variances from the Appeals Board there. He has also had the state environmental review completed.

A concern during the Massachusetts Environmental Protection Act (MEPA) process was traffic, with Callan stating that one agreement was for a traffic signal at the entrance to the park on West Street. Also, a number of roadway improvements will be made.

The site for Inwood Office Park

does have some history. In 1984, Callan, who has developed such properties throughout the country, originally started his plans to build Inwood near the Wilmington line in Woburn. In 1988, though, he sold the property, only to purchase it back in 1997.

In Wilmington and Reading, there has been some opposition towards the construction of the office park, but, says Callan, all related suits have been settled. Questions have included traffic, as well as who would provide coverage in the case of emergencies.

Callan says that there are not any major tenants who have lined up for space in the five upcoming buildings.

Callan and his attorney, Joseph Tarby of the Woburn offices of Murtha, Cullina, Roche & DeGiacomo, maintain that a lot of work has gone into the Inwood project to make it ready for this point in time.

To help with the appearance of the office park, all utilities will be underground and 45% of the property will be green space. Included among the extensive landscaping will be three miles of pathways and some parks. A little less than $1 million a year will be budgeted for expenses relating to the property's upkeep.

The next stop for Callan and his Inwood Office Park will be a public hearing before the Woburn City

"There were a lot of police officers and custodians and teachers who spent a lot of time looking into that threat," says Inspector King.

Currently, the student is in the care of his family.

Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell confirms that the student has been indefinitely suspended from the high school. According to state law, a student can be indefinitely suspended from a school once he or she is charged with a felony. If that student is eventually convicted of the felony, then he or she can be expelled.

Three other threats made within the school system between April 12 and April 30 are still under investigation. The first of those threats was made at the high school shortly before spring vacation. The last two threats were found in bathrooms at the Wilmington Middle School.

"The evidence surrounding those threats have been sent to the FBI in Washington, so there is handwriting analysis being done on them," says Superintendent O'Donnell. "We are optimistic because we know that the FBI cracked a case similar to ours that took place in another community. It took six weeks."

O'Donnell says that the atmosphere at the high school has moved into a more positive direction since the arrest last week uncovered the mystery behind one of the threats.

"I think that the student body at the high school is relieved that someone has been apprehended," says O'Donnell. "Now they can focus on their MCAS preparation and get back into a normal routine."

ConCom swimming in pool of requests that a large addition to their home be approved.

The plans indicate a 65-foot distance from the proposed addition on the property to the wetland line. However, Mr. Keeley visited the residence and determined that the distance is 65 feet from the existing dwelling and 55 feet from the addition. There is a stream, but it is not perennial and may have been man-made.

The commission issued a negative determination, approving the addition.

Another pool was proposed at the meeting, this time from a resident on EARLES ROW.

The exact pool location has not been staked yet and still needs to be determined. Mr. Keeley visited the residence, but he was unable to determine from the plan or the yard where the pool would be installed. He also could not determine what would be the distance from the wetland boundary to the proposed pool.

The commission approved the installation of the pool, with the condition that it be built no closer than 25 feet from the wetlands.

Aside from pools, what other hopes for summer construction did the commission address? An applicant on CARSON AVENUE stood before the commission and requested permission to construct a deck.

Mr. Keeley visited the property and determined that wetlands are 49 feet from the closest corner of the residence. With the new deck, the setback will be between 35 and 40 feet. A small brook does have wetlands as its border, but it will not be affected by the construction of the deck.

The commission approved the deck to be constructed.

An in-ground pool proposed for a residence on STONEHEDGE DRIVE was the subject of a continued public hearing at the meeting. Prior to the hearing, a Notice of Intent was filed. Wetland delineation on the property still needed to be determined. Landscaping plans still need to be reviewed.

"We originally took the [wetland] line that was already established from a 1993-1994 plan," said Stephen Pavlovich, of GCG Associates, who was representing Sean Murphy, the Stonehedge Drive applicant.

Mr. Pavlovich mentioned that there were not any wetland flags, and, at the suggestion of John Keeley, they had the area rechecked and flagged. It was then determined that the pool would be no closer than 25 feet from the wetland border.

Mr. Pavlovich indicated that a retaining wall, which would be two to four feet in height, would contain slopes for the pool. Hay bales and a silt fence will be used to protect the wetlands during construction.

The Conservation Commission voted to continue the public hearing, until Wednesday, May 16 for at least three reasons: The plans for the retaining wall need to be reviewed; the distance from the wetlands of said wall needs to be determined; and the overall plans need to be stamped by the design engineer. Several other items also need to be addressed before the commission makes their final determination.

Finally, a public hearing that was being held for a proposed subdivision plan at NAVAJO ESTATES was continued until Wednesday, June 6 because wetland determinations, septic plans and the shape of the lot lines have yet to be resolved.

To prepare for the trip, Michael has to research Australia and write a report about it. While there in July, he also has to keep a journal of his adventures, which will include more than a few three-pointers for his family album.

"When I'm not playing basketball, I plan to go to Fiji to see the Great Barrier Reef," says Michael.

"I'm also going to go see the Opera House in Sydney."

Between now and then, though, it's practice, practice, practice. Look out, Crocodile Dundee? Better yet, look out Michael Jordan.

Unsuspecting and the elderly duped by unsolicited live checks

BOSTON - It has come to the attention of Representative Miceli that unsolicited live checks are being sent to vulnerable and unsuspecting people in the Commonwealth on a systematic basis. These checks are extraordinarily dangerous because while they often times look like benefit checks, they are really loans that when cashed, can have interest rates of up to 27 percent.

The banks sending these deceptive checks appear to target senior citizens and other people likely to receive Social Security, pension, or other government checks, according to a report by Beth Donovan of the State House News Service. According to one of Donovan's sources, individuals are targeted regardless of their personal debt history or employment status, unlike normal bank loans.

If there are further questions or concerns regarding live checks and their consequences please contact the office of Representative Miceli at 617-722-2582.

seven months ago, I approached the new administration about my idea for the plaque. It turned out that when Winchester Hospital had purchased the site from Choate, they had also purchased all of their assets and liabilities. Among them was the original box of file cards on which Mrs. Woodside had recorded all of the donor names."

And in that box was the renewed hope with which Landers pursued his goal to honor Mrs. Woodside and the others who had helped him.

Says Landers, "Winchester Hospital was more than happy to corroborate my idea, hence the recent dedication of the plaque after these many years."

Mr. Landers, who is now retired, spends much of his time working behind the counter of his daughter's ice cream shop, Cream-E-Scoops, which on a hot summer day can be found at Square One Mall at the intersection of Routes 38 and 129.

When Landers serves ice cream to kids these days, their happy faces remind him of the neighborhood children of long ago, who once went house to house with tin cans in their hands and asked families and friends to donate and help his family through their tragedy.

Though many years have passed since then, the gratitude of Landers and his family continues to shine as brightly as the new plaque in the Family Medical Center.

Mail carriers will pick up food donations

On Saturday, May 12, letter carriers in Wilmington and Tewksbury will do more than deliver mail. They will voluntarily collect food donations that are left at mailboxes.

During the annual national carriers food drive on Saturday, letter carriers will be picking up food on their postal routes and delivering it to the community pantries in Wilmington and Tewksbury.

There are a few things that can be done to assist both the letter carriers and the pantry with this huge undertaking. First, select non-perishable food in unbreakable containers or boxes and place that food into a bag. Do not tie the bag closed. Then place the bag in or at your mailbox early in the day before the expected time of your letter carrier's arrival.

Choose food that is in good condition. Donated food should not be past its expiration date. It should be unopened and unused.

Please be as generous as your circumstances allow. Be patient with your letter carrier. He or she will be very busy that day doing double duty.

Temple to hold Tot Shabbat Service

NORTH CHELMSFORD - Congregation Shalom, a Reform Synagogue located in North Chelmsford will hold another "Tot Shabbat" service Friday evening, May 18 at 6:15.

Tot Shabbat is a wonderful way for tots and their parents to celebrate Shabbat. The service is especially for children ages two through seven (both for non-readers and new readers) and will emphasize the family observance of Shabbat. Rabbi Shoshana Perry will tell the children a story and guitar playing will be featured.

Because of the ages of the children, the service will be very short - only 30 minutes long. Of course, other ages are always welcome.

Please take your own Shabbat at candlesticks to the service.

The Temple is located at 87 Richardson Road, North Chelmsford. For further information, call the Temple at 978-251-8091.

LIFE AFTER DEATH

It is quite natural to experience feelings of bewilderment after a family member or dear friend died. During this time of intense sadness, you may understandably feel emotionally drained. And, it can be overwhelming to learn that there is so much to be done, at the precise moment when you do not feel like doing anything. If you were the person closest to the deceased, it may be incumbent upon you to arrange the funeral and inform the authorities. While some people like to have a lot of practical matters with which to cope, others find that just coping with their grief is more than enough. If so, allow the funeral director to help.

Walk for Hunger raises much needed funds

BOSTON - Recently, more than 40,000 people walked in Project Bread's Walk for Hunger, raising over $3 million for hungry people across the state. School groups, religious groups, corporate teams, and individuals took part in this Massachusetts tradition, which has been helping hungry Massachusetts residents for more than 30 years. The proceeds from the Walk will provide funding for nearly 400 emergency food pantries, soup kitchens, food banks, and food salvage programs throughout the state.

"The Walk was a huge success," said Ellen Parker, executive director of Project Bread. "I would like to thank each and every person who participated and let them know that their efforts are going to make an enormous difference in the lives of thousands of hungry people for an entire year."

With the economy taking a downward turn, emergency food programs are needed more than ever. With the cost of living in Massachusetts being one of the highest in the country, even short-term unemployment can be devastating to a family. And when a family is struggling, the food budget is usually the first thing to be cut. Fortunately, emergency food programs provide a safety net that ensures no one will have to go hungry.

Project Bread is a community-based organization dedicated to alleviating, preventing, and ending hunger in Massachusetts.

WILMINGTON - The North East Solid Waste Committee (NESWC) has announced that the Town of Wilmington was awarded $727,179 from the Massachusetts Renewable Energy Trust Fund to help offset costs of federally mandated environmental upgrades to its regional waste-to-energy facility. The grant is part of a $16.6 million award to the 23 northeast Massachusetts communities who send the non-recycled portion of their trash to a disposal facility located in North Andover.

The Massachusetts Technology Park Corporation (MTPC) administers the Fund, a grant program established by the Legislature as part of the Electric Restructuring Act of 1997. Fund monies promote a cleaner environment, help ensure a more diverse energy generation portfolio and reduce fiscal pressure on municipal budgets.

"The Town of Wilmington continues to face rising municipal waste disposal costs as a result of heightened environmental standards. This grant program will help communities pay for these rising costs and help to solve an important environmental problem," said Greg Watson, Director of MTPC's Renewable Energy Trust Fund.

"We are pleased that we can ensure cleaner air through this program," said Gina McCarthy, Assistant Secretary of Pollution Prevention within the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs. "The upgrades to the pollution control equipment will, among other things, allow the facility to meet the toughest mercury emission standards in the country."

"This grant program is a key element of NESWC's comprehensive program to reduce the financial burden on Wilmington taxpayers who have helped to protect the environment," said Robert Moroney, Chairman of the NESWC Board of Directors. "We appreciate the work of Caucus Co-Chairs Senator Bruce Tarr and Representative Barry Finegold and the other members of the NESWC Legislative Caucus and their colleagues in the Legislature, as well as the Cellucci-Swift Administration for securing this crucial financial assistance. We also want to thank the MTPC and their advisors for their support and assistance in crafting successful grant program."

The NESWC communities pay average trash disposal fees of $122 per ton, which is more than twice the statewide average and continues to increase. NESWC, a not-for-profit consortium representing the waste disposal interests of the 23 communities, continues to pursue alternative funding solutions to reduce this financial burden resulting from the retrofit, required by the Federal Clean Air Act, and the back-end loading of the original debt obligation established by the 1983 financing. Today, the outstanding principal yet to be paid is approximately $140 million.

"Reducing the environmental and economic burden has been a priority issue in our communities," said Shawn Worster, Executive Director of NESWC. "We particularly want to thank Senator Tarr, Representative Murphy and Representative Miceli of Wilmington for helping Wilmington to receive the $727,179 MTPC grant. This financial assistance is a direct result of their guidance, leadership and support. We look forward to continuing to work together on an ongoing basis."

The NESWC communities that deliver non-recycled solid waste to the Massachusetts Refuse Tech, Inc. facility located in No. Andover are: Acton, Andover, Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Boxborough, Burlington, Carlisle, Dracut, Hamilton, Lexington, Lincoln, Manchester by the Sea, North Andover, North Reading, Peabody, Tewksbury, Watertown, Wenham, Westford, West Newbury, Wilmington and Winchester.

Barry participates in Rebuild Day

WILMINGTON - Scott Barry, a resident of Wilmington was among the more than 1,500 volunteers who helped repair 26 homes and nine non-profit community agencies throughout Providence, R.I., and two homes in Newport, R.I., as part of an eighth annual Rebuild Day. Rebuilding Together with Christmas in April Providence plans all year for this large scale event that culminates on the last Saturday in April. An employee of Fidelity Investments, Scott participated on April 28, 2001, for his second year.

Rebuilding Together, the local affiliate of the nation's oldest and leading volunteer home repair program, was founded as Christmas in April* Providence in 1994 at the initiative of Providence College and its President's Council. A nonprofit, community driven organization, it is entirely supported by voluntary contributions of time, money and materials from hundreds of corporate and individual sponsors from throughout the state.

In eight years, over 8,000 volunteers and sponsors have donated nearly 100,000 hours and $2.2 million to complete major repairs at 212 private homes and non-profit community sites in virtually every Providence neighborhood. They have installed interior and exterior stairs, repaired roofs, upgraded hazardous electrical systems, installed new heating and plumbing systems, constructed handicap entrance ramps, gutted and renovated kitchens and bathrooms, installed new appliances, replaced windows, plastered walls and ceilings, and painted and wallpapered.

*The nation's largest volunteer organization preserving and vitalizing low income houses and communities.

Support urgently needed for disaster victims

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - Paralyzing winter storms. Ravaging tornadoes. Hard hitting earthquakes. Although media attention regarding these recent events has been diminishing, the victims of these and other catastrophes are still recovering from the tremendous loss and emotional distress they have experienced.

As we enter the spring and summer seasons, we face one of the year's busiest disaster periods. Tornadoes and hurricanes will affect thousands. The National Weather Service reports that 24 states - almost half the country, face higher than average flood vulnerability. In addition, local communities are at risk of experiencing the wrath of other disasters such as fires, explosions and other tragedies. All of this presents a very real and urgent need to provide assistance for current disasters and develop preventive strategies for those that may be coming.

The American Red Cross has assisted the victims of almost 300 major disasters in 45 states this past year and has been called upon to help those affected by airplane crashes, school shootings and other tragic events. However, the Red Cross now finds itself in a situation where the cost of providing lifesaving relief is outpacing public contributions. Without continued public support, a major disaster could deplete the Red Cross' emergency reserve.

The Red Cross has developed a print public service campaign to raise awareness of the continued need for disaster relief and as a call-to-action for people across the country.

Broderick wins national foreign language award

TEWKSBURY - The United States Achievement Academy has announced that James E. Broderick, Jr. of Tewksbury has been named a United States National Award Winner in Foreign Language.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American High School students.

James, who attends Matignon High School, was nominated for this national award by Elaine Miceli, a teacher at the school.

He will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

James is the son of Madge and Jim Broderick of Tewksbury. His grandparent is Hugh Doyle of Everett.

The little known benefits of Social Security

WILMINGTON - Probably everyone knows that Social Security pays retirement benefits, but not everyone is aware of the extent to which it provides survivors benefits, too. When someone has worked and paid into Social Security, monthly benefits can be paid to certain family members when the worker dies. These include:

- *Widows or widowers - full benefits at their full retirement age or reduced benefits as early as age 60. A disabled widow or widower can get benefits at age 50.
- *Widows or widowers, at any age, taking care of the deceased worker's children under age 16 or disabled children who get benefits.
- *Unmarried children under age 18 (or up to age 19 if they're attending elementary or secondary school full time). Children can get benefits at any age if they were disabled before age 22 and remained disabled.
- *Dependent parents age 62 or older.
- *Surviving divorced spouses if the marriage lasted 10 years or more. The former spouse, however, does not have to meet the length of marriage rule if she or he is caring for the worker's child who is under age 16 or disabled and who is also getting benefits on the worker's former spouse's natural or legally adopted child.

There is also a special one time payment that can be made only to your spouse or minor children if they meet certain requirements. Although you probably haven't thought about it, the fact is, the value of the survivors insurance you have under Social Security is worth more than the value of any individual life insurance you may have. In today's dollars, that value is worth $374,000 to an average survivor family consisting of a widow(er) and two children.

So, as you can see, Social Security provides a package of protection for America's workers and their families.

TEWKSBURY - The senior citizens will hold their Annual Art Show at the Senior Center, 175 Chandler Street, Wednesday, May 16, from 6 to 9 p.m. The senior artisans and their instructors will have a wide variety of pieces for viewing. Included will be:

- Oil and water paintings, wood carvings, bunka embroidery, stained glass items, traditional embroidery, quilting and much more. Light refreshments will be served and admission is free. Mark your calendars and go on down to see the wonderful works done by the seniors and their instructors.
- An activities meeting will be held May 11 at 2:30 in the main hall. The topic of discussion will be the parade and some of the upcoming events. All are welcome as we are encouraging more seniors to become involved with the senior citizens' participation in the Memorial Day Parade.

On behalf of the Friends of the Elderly and the Council on Aging, a hearty thank you is extended to all those who donated items for our recent Annual Auction, to those who patronized the event and to all those people who helped with the preparation and the evening's activities.

The winner of the 50/50 raffle was Kay Maher. The evening grossed just under $15,000 and we are anticipating the proceeds to be over $12,000 once all our expense statements have come in. Thanks to you all, we did move out Expansion Project Thermometer up another 12 degrees!

This month's cootie party will be held Friday, May 18, at 12:45 p.m. All are welcome to join in this fun afternoon.

The next Senior Center Breakfast event will be held Sunday, June 10.

The seniors' Giant Yard Sale will be coming up next month. It will be held Saturday, June 2 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Those planning to donate items for the Senior Center tables, please do so after the Art Show of May 16. We don't want to clutter up the main hall.

There are still a few yard sale table spaces available. For more information call Carol Hazel at 978-640-4480.

Our apologies are extended to the seniors with regard to the scheduling of day trips. With all the current events, the addition of classes and our experiences with cancellations due to that dirty work "snow," we have somewhat neglected day trips. We are hoping to get back on track within the next couple of weeks. Any suggestions? Submit or re-submit them to the suggestion box located at the front desk.

Remembering Lillian Woodside

The "Good Guy" once wore a skirt

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - Each year, the citizens of Wilmington honor an active and inspirational member of the community with a "Good Guy" Award. This year, the award will be given during a dinner to take place at the Knights of Columbus Hall on the night of Friday, May 11. Of course, the recipient has no idea what he or she is in for.

The name "Good Guy" was coined for its alliterative attraction, but it was in no way intended to restrict the honor to only men. For instance, on March 12, 1970, the headline in the Town Crier read, "The Good Guy wore skirts."

The honoree was Lillian Woodside, who had been named the third "Good Guy."

Lil and her husband Mel were both pharmacists, and for 27 years were the proprietors of the Wilmington Center Pharmacy. There store was located just where it said it was, in the "Center" or the "Square" at the intersection of Rt 62 and Rt 38 on Main St.

When the night of the "Good Guy" dinner arrived, Mel had a problem. How could he get Lil to the dinner without her noticing that the drug store was closed?

The Woodside lived on Roberts Road, which is off Burlington Avenue (Rt 62), so Mel drove down Boutwell Street, then onto Aldrich Road and down Shawshen Avenue. Somehow Lil didn't catch on, and so for her the dinner was a surprise.

Wilmington Center was a very different kind of place from what it is now. On the corner was the post office, and right next door was the drug store. The drug store had a soda fountain with about six high stools. In those days, you could get a soda mixed right in front of you in a paper cone cup, set into a reusable metal base. And, of course, they sold ice cream cones.

Besides Lil and Mel, there were their two children, Leo and Carol. Paul MacMullin also worked there and eventually married Carol. Carol followed in her mother's footsteps and became a pharmacist.

Lil made the drug store the center of most everything good that ber of the Wilmington Community Fund and FISH.

Lil was a native of East Boston and a graduate of the New England College of Pharmacy. She at one time owned and published a newspaper in Wakefield and later co-owned the Stearns-Hill Drug Store, a drug store there.

Lil initiated a drive to build a hospital in Wilmington. In spite of its proximity to Boston, Wilmington was very poorly located in relation to hospitals. It was at least ten miles in any direction to a hospital, and the traffic was making it harder to travel that distance quickly.

She began accepting donations for the hospital fund. Every week, the Town Crier would print a list of memorial contributions to the fund.

Lil had to chase down many blind alleys in her drive to build a hospital. She had many meetings with officials of Lahey Clinic before it decided to locate in Burlington. She purchased a field on Lowell Street, opposite where Burger King now stands, as a site for the hospital. However, she was not able to bring everything together and the field remained vacant.

Eventually, the drive was taken over by the Choate Memorial Hospital, and the concept of the hospital was changed to a health center, a clinic without overnight rooms.

Meanwhile, Lil's drug store closed. On June 24, 1973, at 1:10 p.m. Lil and Mel were confronted by an armed man seeking drugs and money. The experience was shattering for them. They decided they could not continue in a business that was such an attraction to drug addicts.

Four years later, the groundbreaking was held for the health center on September 8, 1977. In spite of being terminally ill, Lil attended the groundbreaking and even spoke briefly. As she concluded her speech, she sobbed, "We did it, we finally did it!" There wasn't a dry eye in the crowd.

I went over to Lil and told her that her crying was beautiful, as it showed the emotion that carried her for so many years in her effort to build a hospital. A few days later, I received a card from her.

"Happiness is," she wrote, "having a friend make you feel good when you feel like a donkey."

Lil died three weeks later, on September 30, 1977. Shortly after, the Board of Selectmen passed a resolution asking that the Regional Health Center be named for her.

This photo of Leo Woodside and Paul MacMullin ran in the ad for the Wilmington Center Pharmacy. The company car was a Ford Falcon station wagon. They DELIVERED! Imagine that!

The Art of Giving Back: Volunteering at Lahey Clinic

BURLINGTON - Sixty-five-year-old Dan Devlin credits the staff at Lahey Clinic with saving his life twice: once in 1995, with coronary bypass surgery, and again in 1998, helping him recover from pneumonia. Both times he entered the clinic through the emergency department. Now retired from Hewlett-Packard, the Wakefield resident is in the process of "giving back" to Lahey by volunteering his time and talents 15 hours a week in that same emergency department.

"I get a lot of satisfaction from helping people," says Devlin who greets patients and makes their waits more comfortable by supplying coffee, ice packs, friendly smiles and conversation.

Many Iodice, Lahey's manager of volunteer services wishes she could clone Devlin. "Like nurses and radiology technicians, hospital volunteers are in short supply," she says.

According to Iodice, the need for volunteers is greatest in the ER, particularly in the afternoon and evenings.

Devlin and Iodice agree that the benefits of volunteering are numerous: it's rewarding, offers flexible ours, an opportunity to make new friends, and a $4 per day meal allowance. For more information about the volunteer program at Lahey Clinic, call Mary Iodice at 781-744-8803.

"Laws and Liability" to review underage drinking

WILMINGTON - The second of three prevention education programs will be held Tuesday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wilmington Middle School.

"Laws and Liability" will feature a panel of speakers from the District Attorney Martha Coakley's office, the local Police Department and the Department of Youth Services. Using case studies, the panelists will review legal issues related to underage drinking.

The programs have been developed by the Community Task Force on Student Health and Safety.

Parents are considered essential to educating their children about alcohol and other drugs. We hope you will attend.

For more information contact Superintendent O'Donnell at 978-694-6000.

Baseball team stage dramatic comeback

'Cats rally past Rockport for seventh victory

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

When Dick Scanlon retires as coach of the Wilmington Baseball team, someday he'll look back over the many winning seasons and reflect on the good old days.

Right now the Coach has 297 wins and when he eventually calls it a career, he'll have over 300 wins and someday he might look back on several of the bigger ones. Perhaps Thursday's game will be one of them.

Trailing 4-0 going to the bottom of the fourth, Wilmington scored four runs to tie the game against a pretty good Rockport team. The score stayed the same until the bottom of the seventh inning, when Wilmington had the bases empty and one out. Senior Bill Hafner came to the plate and lofted a high fly ball over the left field fence on the first fastball he saw from pitcher Andrew Rowell, and Wilmington celebrated with an dramatic 5-4, walk off homerun victory at their home field.

As for Scanlon this one chalks up a win number 297, three more to go before he reaches His Promise Land.

"Obviously the more wins you get the quicker you get into the tournament," he said, as the team needs three more wins to qualify and of course reach his milestone. "They're a good team - the problem is they have just one good pitcher and [Rowell] is it. We had to come back from the dead against a good pitcher. We came back and this was a good win for us. How often do you get to see a walk off homerun in high school baseball? Hardly ever. [Hafner] got a hold of that one and that was as dramatic as you get."

Scanlon sent his ace pitcher Dave Trueira out to the mound. After a scoreless first inning, Trueira ran into trouble in the second. Rockport banged out four hits, added a walk and scored four runs in the top of the second to take a 4-0 lead. In the third, Rockport's first two batters singled, but Trueira got out of the jam with a fly out and two groundouts. In the fourth he got out of another jam and when he came off the mound he told Scanlon that his shoulder was hurting him and Scanlon immediately removed him from the game.

In the home half of the fourth inning - three innings after Wilmington looked as if it was sleepwalking - the 'Cats woke up with a big inning. With one out and the bases empty, Andy Hackett - who leads the entire state in batting - singled to left. Scott Buck followed with a single past third sending Hackett to second. Jim Fennelly singled to load the bases for junior Nick Gennetti. The left handed hitter smacked a solid line drive to center field to clear the bases and cut the lead to 4-3. After stealing third, Gennetti scored on a base knock by Andy Campbell tying the game at 4-

4. In the top of the fifth Scanlon inserted left hander Joe Burns as the new pitcher. He pitched beautifully over the last three innings. He tossed three scoreless innings, giving up two hits, while he hit a batter and struck out two. His left arm really gave the Wildcats a shot in its arms to get going and they did. Wilmington left two runners on in the fifth and went in order in the sixth, before Hafner won it with a bomb over the left field fence.

Hackett ended the game going 3-for-3, while, Fennelly and Gennetti also had two hits each. Gennetti's first one was all hustle as he beat on a bunt on pure hustle, as Rockport should have made the easy play but got a little lazy and Gennetti made them pay for it.

On Saturday Wilmington lost to North Reading, 4-3 in 8 innings. Burns had a no-hitter into the sixth inning but inexplicably hit three batters before giving up a game tying three-run triple to Dan Face. Burns left after the seventh inning as he tossed a two-hitter but got a no-decision for his effort. Wilmington scored two runs in the third and added a single one in the sixth thanks to two hits by Gennetti who drove in all three of the runs.

Josh Howlett took the loss as he gave up a run on two hits in the 8th inning.

With the loss Wilmington is 7-4 overall with 9 games remaining.

This week Wilmington will travel to Masconomet (8-3) on Thursday to face a real good Chieftain squad. On Saturday they will host Amesbury (9-3) at 10:00 am and that will be followed by a home game on Tuesday afternoon against Georgetown.

Sinopoli 'Clips Newburyport

On Tuesday afternoon Wilmington improved its record to 8-3 win an 8-7 extra inning win over Newburyport.

Head coach Dick Scanlon missed the game and Bob Gillis filled in, thus Scanlon's win record remains at 297.

In the top of the eighth inning, both Scott Buck and Andy Campbell singled and they were driven in by sophomore Billy Sinopoli who drove a two-run double into the gap. Newburyport did score a run in the bottom of the eighth but it wasn't enough.

Josh Howlett got the win in relief of Sinopoli.

Andy Hackett went 2-for-4 with his first homerun of the season as he is now 18-for-28 on the season. Campbell was 2-for-3 with a RBI, while Howlett and Nick Gennetti also had RBI hits.

Senior third baseman leaps obstacles Hafner turns game, career around dramatically

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

In Professional baseball, players go through a 162-game schedule, which is a long journey over a six month span. Players go through many ups and downs, including hot streaks, cold streaks and they often go through many aches and pains.

In the small scheme of high school baseball here in Wilmington, senior Bill Hafner has gone through that professional type season throughout his Wildcat days.

Perhaps that's why Hafner's walk off homerun in the bottom of the seventh inning of last Thursday's game, makes it that much better considering what he has gone through over the years.

In a Cape Ann League game against a pretty good Rockport team, Wilmington trailed 4-0 but rallied to tie the game with four runs of their own in the home half of the fourth.

The score stayed the same until the bottom of the seventh when Hafner walked up to the plate with no one on and one out. After going 0-for-3 in his earlier at bats, the second place hitter in the potent line-up took a first pitch fastball by a pretty good pitcher named Andrew Rowell deep over the left field fence at the Wilmington High School Field for the game winning hit, and obviously the game winning run.

For Hafner, it's been a long road back to be able to play the game comfortably. After smacking the game winning homerun to lift his team to an 7-3 record at the time, Hafner celebrated comfortably at home plate with a big smile on his face while his teammates crowded him with congratulations and the fans clapped in joy of the game's hero.

"This feels great," he said. "It was good to beat these guys - they are a good team."

Two years ago Hafner was a sophomore on the baseball team which went to the Eastern Mass final and lost to Bishop Stang. On that team, Hafner was a long reliever who came in to spill starters who didn't have their right stuff on certain days.

Hafner was sensational in that role, as he logged many innings. He wasn't a rear back and throw the fastball kind of pitcher, instead he tossed constant breaking balls at different speeds and different locations to off set the opposing batters.

Head coach Dick Scanlon had planned on using Hafner as one of his top pitchers on last year's team - except there was one major problem. Hafner couldn't throw the ball. Because of the wear and tear over the years of throwing many innings and many curveballs from little league all the way up, Hafner's right elbow wouldn't allow him to throw a baseball at all during last year's season. All he did was DH, but that was hard for him to get the groove on especially since he was a pretty good two-way player.

The team struggled last year and for the most part Hafner did too.

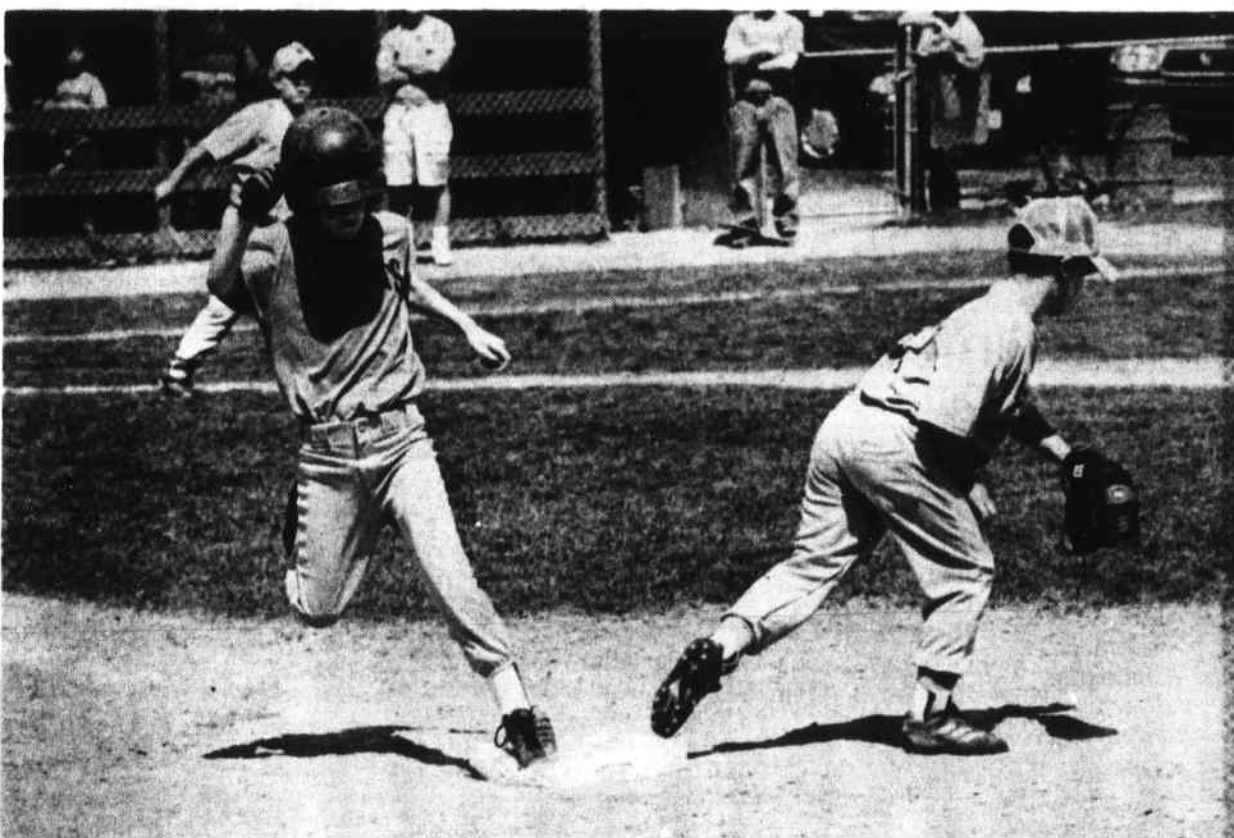

At the start of this season, it wasn't known for a few weeks if Hafner could throw the ball. But at the final end of the pre-season, Hafner felt as if he could throw the ball, but he can never throw another curve ball again if he would like his right elbow still attached to his arm.

Scanlon inserted Hafner to the third baseman's position and the kid has played a tremendous hot corner thus far. He can make the throws from third to first - not as strong as he once could - but he makes the plays, makes the throws, while at the plate he has been a huge asset. He belts the ball to all fields with a lot of power. His homerun on Thursday was his third on the season, and second at WHS.

"How often do you see a walk off homerun in high school baseball," asked Scanlon. "Hardly ever. [Hafner] got a hold off that one and that was as dramatic as you get."

Hafner said that after he didn't get a hit in his first three at bats, it was time to take a different approach the fourth time around.

"The two at bats I hit it pretty hard and the third one just didn't drop in - it was like that all day," he said. "[The final at-bat] I was hoping for a first pitch fastball and I just sat on it. Luckily I got a good piece of it."

WILMINGTON LITTLE LEAGUE HAS BEGUN yet another season. This past Saturday morning, Rotary Park was the site of several terrific games. Here, the Giants and the Astros hooked up for a battle in the 10-11 year old Division as Matt Hachey of the Giants get called out at first base. See inside for Little League write-ups. A few surprises at half-way point

We are at the half way point of the spring sports schedule right now and thus far there's been plenty to talk and write about when it comes to local sports here at Wilmington, Tewksbury and Shawsheen Tech high schools.

Tewksbury as a whole is having the best spring for its teams as four of the five teams have winning records. Wilmington's baseball and softball teams are surprising many, while their track and tennis teams are young and are looking to gain some experience. Shawsheen softball is playing extremely well with an 11-2 record and the baseball team is looking for a little bit more consistency as they are bordering the .500 mark.

I've decided to put a few fun lists together of what's been happening thus far in the spring sports world. So here goes:

Biggest Surprise Team

(Wilmington):

Well obviously the softball team's 10-0 start has to be a huge surprise, but the award should go to the baseball team who is 7-4. Last year the team really struggled with an 6-14 record, and this season they have rebounded and have done very well in the first half of the season. The team's pitching was a huge question mark going into the season and that has turned around thanks to Dave Trueira, Joe Burns and Josh Howlett.

Head coach Dick Scanlon made several drastic changes about a week before the season started and they are paying off right now. Badly needing a shortstop he moved Joe Ranno from third to short, and Ranno has done a tremendous job. Scanlon moved Jim Fennelly, who split between catcher and shortstop last season, to second base and he has done a nice job there. Bill Hafner, who was the team's DH last year because he couldn't throw, has settled in at the hot corner of third base and has done very well. Finally at first base, Scanlon has used Trueira when he doesn't pitch or Andy Campbell.

Obviously the team's pitching and team's attitude has been the main reason for their turnaround, but perhaps forming and entire new infield just a week before the season started has paid off too. The team's defense, especially the infield, has played above and beyond what was expected.

Biggest Surprise Team

(Tewksbury):

To be honest none of the teams are really a surprise. The baseball team struggled for a spurt and after Friday's dramatic win over Central Catholic it looks as if they are back on track. The softball team could be a surprise since they are so young, but the teams they beat - Andover, Notre Dame, Westford, Dracut etc., - they should beat especially when they have Amy Von Kahle and Kelly Boyle and Lauren Welch on their squad. And the track teams are never a surprise since they dominate every year.

Top Individual Surprises (Wilmington):

1. Andy Hackett, baseball: As of Monday, Hackett leads the entire state in hitting. And no, this isn't false stats when every ball Hackett hits is ruled a hit by his team (of the five games I've seen Wilmington play, Hackett sat out the first one and then combined to go 7-for-8 in the other four games). He was 16-for-24, a .762 clip as of Monday-morning. What's more impressive than his batting average is the fact that last year he was hurt with a back injury, thus this is his first full varsity season.

2. Stacy Comer and Lauren Crowley, softball: The sophomore double play tandem of the 'Cats haven't committed an error yet, while they both have done admirable jobs at the plate.

3. Shannon Fahey and Lauren Rappoli, softball: The freshmen duo have been very impressive thus far. Fahey plays left field and she has a tremendous powerful swing. She has been robbed a few times with deep threats and has also swung just under the ball a few times. But once she gets a break her future hits will be aimed to the next state.

Rappoli, on the other hand, has been on a tremendous streak at the plate. This week she combined for over ten hits in four games, while she has showed off a tremendous arm in center field.

Top Individual Surprises (Tewksbury):

1. Jenn Clark, Girls Track: For a freshman to come in and break an 19-year-old school record in the shot put tossing over 30 feet is very impressive.

2. Lauren Bagley, Girls Track: Yet another freshman who has the best time in the entire league in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:27.2.

Most Underrated Performers (Wilmington):

1. Danielle Cleary, softball: She played very strong defense and also has been a tablesetter at the top of the order getting on base with slaps hits and moving runners along with her bunts.

2. Joe Ranno, baseball: Last year Ranno struggled at the plate going a handful of games without a hit. This year he has moved to the pivotal position of shortstop and also moved to the top spot in the batting order and he's come through with a spectacular first half. He doesn't have the rifle arm from deep in the hole, but he makes the plays he should and really is the backbone of the team's strong defense. At the plate he is very good at getting on base for the big bats that follow him.

Most Underrated Players (Tewksbury):

1. Lauren Welch, softball: By far the easiest choice for this award. She's probably the nicest kid who has come out of the program in the last 5 years and she is steady as ever. She plays a magnificent second base, and you wouldn't think she could cover as much ground as she does but somehow she gets to everything. At the plate, she's everything a coach could want as a lead-off hitter. With the team being so young and inexperienced, she is the big reason why they have six wins thus far by getting on base nearly everytime so players like Kelly Boyle can knock her in.

2. Danny Elliman, baseball: He plays a strong left field, bats ninth and has comes up with big hit after big hit. He does his job, doesn't showboat and does the right things. A perfect role player for any Coach.

Top Athletes to watch (Wilmington):

1. Chris Calway, Boys Track: What can't he do?

2. Kim Gillespie, Becky Rufo and Michaela Rufo, Girls Track: What can't they do?

3. Josh Howlett, Baseball: Has really put his game together this year at the plate, on the mound and in the outfield. The Big Guy has had three very good athletic seasons between football, basketball and baseball.

Top Athletes to watch (Tewksbury):

1. Jay Wagstaff, Boys Track: He really should be considered one of - if not the best - the top athletes to come out of the school in the last 10 years.

2. Scott Favreau, Baseball: A 22-2 record in four years as a varsity pitcher. Come on, how impressive is that?

3. Kelly Boyle, Softball: Monday night told just what she is all about. Once again she hurt her bad knee, and once again she's hobbling all around the field, making diving stops in the hole and going from first to third on a single, hustling and going as hard as she can.

Look out in the future for (Wilmington):

1. Fahey, Rappoli, Crowley and Comer, Girls Softball: See above.

2. Mike Kelley and Willie Fiumara, Boys Track: Just try to catch these guys in the future.

Look out in the future for (Tewksbury):

1. Clark and Bagley, Girls

Track: See above.

2. Amanda Sutherbee, Girls Tennis: A real sparkplug with tons of determination and skill.

3. DJ Bettencourt, baseball: Is there a more mature, determined kid at Tewksbury High? A sophomore, Bettencourt has the mind set of a veteran coach.

Milestones (Wilmington):

1. Dick Scanlon, Baseball Coach: As of Monday morning, he needed three more wins to reach 300 in his career. Not too shabby in old Wilmington.

2. Bill Sinopoli, Baseball: The sophomore grabbed his first varsity victory in a win over Manchester last week.

As much fun and as many laughs as I had on the weekend with the team, I must say that this trip was special and this team is pretty special. Why? It's very obvious they have something not too many other teams have ... 12 talented softball players who all get along, who all have as much fun as they can while they also compete as hard as they possibly can, while they all enjoy each other immensely. You don't see that with every trip and every team.

Tough week for boys' track team

By JAMIE POTE

Leading by a point with just the mile relay remaining, the Wilmington High boys' track team couldn't pull out a victory on Monday. North Reading won the mile relay and the meet, 70-66, as the 'Cats fell to 3-6 on the season.

Wilmington lost to both Lynnfield 85.5-59.5 and Hamilton-Wenham, 95.5-49.5, in a tri-meet held on Wednesday.

"We had several outstanding performances, however, both [Lynnfield and Hamilton-Wenham] teams were able to overwhelm us with numbers," said co-coach Tim Jones. "Injuries to key athletes is starting to have an impact, however we are very young and we feel we are building a good foundation for the future."

Against North Reading, Chris Calway was a triple winner to high light the meet. He won the long jump (19'1.25"), the high jump (6-0) and the 300 hurdles (41 seconds). Matt Dorothy won the shot put (41-4), Adam Jensen won the mile, Jason Gustin won the 800 and the 4x400 relay team remained undefeated.

Also putting in strong efforts were Steve Natoli and Todd Chen in the triple jump as they placed second and third, respectively, while, Dan Vassallo added three strong points in the two mile as swiped second.

In the tri-meet, Calway (300 hurdles, 40.9), Dorothy (shot put), Jensen (mile, 4:45, state qualifying time) and Gustin (800) all were first place winners once again, while, freshman Mike Kelly won the 200 as did the 4x100 relay team of Josh Hiltz, Derek Hanley, Calway and Kelly. Brian Shell took a solid second place in the 800.

College Round-up

Endicott College lacrosse player Deana Ward of Wilmington was selected to the Commonwealth Coast Conference (CCC) second team all conference lacrosse team.

Ward, a senior, was a significant playmaker for her team this season contributing at both ends of the field. She led the team in scoring collecting 21 goals and eight assists.

Ward is a Sports Management major and the daughter of Mary Peters and Fred Ward.

The Power Gulls finished the season 6-6 overall and made it to the semifinals of the conference playoffs.

Indians double up on Twins, 4-2

Major Division
Indians 4, Twins 2

The Tribe has started the season off with a strong beginning. Except for the spanking they received from the White Sox, the Indians have won four out of five this season.

Chris Welch, the ace for the Indians pitched a one hitter. Chris pitched all six innings and dominated the Twins with 13 strikeouts.

Bryan Kelley, Dan Patterson, Kyle Nims and Michael Wilson who all singled provided the Indians offense.

The catcher, Michael Cabral, provided the outstanding defensive play of the game. Michael threw out a Twins player who tried to steal second base. With two outs in the last inning, a runner on first and the tying run at the plate, Cabral threw a bullet to a waiting second baseman Bryan Kelley who applied the tag to end the game.

Mayo, Svenson and Manning who played a great game, led the Twins.

Indians 4, Orioles 0
Kyle Nims took the mound for the Indians. Kyle pitched six strong innings giving up only one hit and recording an impressive 15 strikeouts.

The Indians offense was led by Michael Cabral who had two doubles, Nick Zappala, Chris Welch and Brendan Oriordan who all singled.

The Indians played solidly in the field with nice plays made by Kyle Lunt, Joe Mahoney and Chris Clark. Clark caught a good game, blocking balls in the dirt and throwing out an Orioles base runner attempting to steal second base.

Griffin, Donohue and the Fay brothers led the Orioles.

Indians 6, A's 3
The Indians had their ace on the hill, Chris Welch. The A's were able to get on the scoreboard first with a leadoff single by Mike Auciello, who would later score on a double by the A's Chris Dancoe.

The A's kept the Indians off the scoreboard until the bottom of the fourth inning. In the fourth, Brett Robbins walked and advanced to third on a Bryan Kelley double. With runners on second and third Michael Cabral stepped up to the plate. Cabral delivered with a double over the left fielder's head driving in two runs to give the Indians the lead.

Nick Clark and Kyle Nims drew walks to load the bases. Dan Patterson and Nick Zappala both singled and drove in more runs. The Indians held a 6-1 lead going into the fifth inning.

The A's battled back in the fifth with two runs of their own. Chris Dancoe led off with a single and later scored on a double by Joe Sheehan, who scored on an error.

The Indians played solidly in the field with outstanding plays by Dan Patterson, Michael Wilson and Nick Clark. Clark caught a deep fly ball in center field that would have gone for extra bases. Chris Welch came out in the sixth and struck out the side to preserve the win.

Indians 7, Red Sox 6
The Indians pitcher, Kyle Nims pitched an excellent game, giving up one run in five innings.

The Indians scored three runs in the bottom of the first. Michael Cabral reached on an error and advanced to second on an overthrow. Chris Welch walked. Kyle Nims and Nick Zappala both singled to drive in the runs.

In the second inning the Red Sox got on the scoreboard. Dan McCarthy singled and later scored. The Indians responded in the bottom of the inning when Dan Patterson singled and later scored.

In the third inning the Indians picked up two more runs. Cabral walked and scored on a Nick Clark double. Chris Welch walked and stole second. Clark stole home on he throw to second and easily scored.

The Indians had a commanding 7-1 lead going into the last inning, but the Red Sox would not give up. Shane Foley singled, followed by several Sox players who showed a good eye and patience at the plate. After several walks and the score now 7-5, the Indians went to Nick Clark to close the game.

Nick Clark came in with runners on second and third. The tying run was at second with only one out. Dan McCarthy stepped up to the plate with hopes of tying the game. Dan already had one hit and was looking for another. Nick delivered a fastball; McCarthy swung and hit a screaming line drive back up the middle. Nick reached up over his head and snagged the ball before it could go up the middle. Nick made a game saving catch, but still had runners on second and third and needed one more out.

The Red Sox' Brandon Sheehan showed good speed when he stole home and slid across the plate. The score was now 7-6 and the fans were squirming in their seats (coaches too). Nick Clark knows pressure, as he was the quarterback for the Pop Warner Champion D team this year. Nick had to maintain his composure and get the next out. Nick struck out the final Sox hitter to secure the win. This game was an exciting and well-played game by both teams.

The Indians played solidly in the field, led by Chris Welch, Dan Patterson, and Brendan Oriordan. Brendan made a nice catch on a fly ball in left that was a crowd pleaser.

Athletics 4, White Sox 3
As the umpire left the field, someone overheard him say to one of the parents that he had been umpiring for 30 years and this was the best game that he has ever been associated with on any level!

Most everyone who watched the game would probably agree, as they saw the Sons of Italy As squeak out of a two out bottom of the sixth victory over the Reading Trophy White Sox, 4-3.

Scoring started in the top of the first with Rob and Steve McIsaac rounding the bases on a Dan Palmer single to give the White Sox an early 2-0 lead. The A's struck back in the bottom of the inning as James Cuoco crossed the plate off the bat of Kevin Skinner to make the score 2-1 after one.

The White Sox scored their third and final run of the game when John Trasfaglia led off with a single, stole two bases and scored on a Joe Gore single up the middle, making it 3-1 Sox. In the bottom of the inning, Dan Silva led off with a walk and advanced to third on a wild pitch and a ground ball out. Mike Johnson then came to the plate and belted a single to right to score Silva with the second A's run. The game stayed 3-2 Sox through the top of the sixth inning as both teams' pitchers settled down.

In the bottom of the sixth, for the A's, Chris Dancoe led off with a sharp single to left. Kevin Skinner then lifted a long fly ball to deep center for a run producing double. With Skinner on second with no outs, White Sox pitcher Rob McIsaac got the next two A's to strike out. The A's with Kevin Skinner still on second, now with two outs, decided to call for a steal of third base. As the throw from the catcher bounced into left field, Skinner was able to trot home with the winning run.

For the Sons of Italy A's pitchers Kevin Skinner and Chris Dancoe (now 2-0) combined to throw a three hitter, striking out 12 and walking only one White Sox. Hitters for the A's included James Cuoco, Chris Dancoe, Kevin Skinner, Jon Kincaid, Mike Johnson and Matt Capozzi. Defensively, backstops Jon Kincaid and Ryan Fahey both threw runners out trying to steal on them. The defensive play of the game was turned in at third base by Dave Reed.

For the Reading Trophy White Sox, Pat Ryan and Rob McIsaac combined to hold the A's to only six hits, striking out a total of 12 and issuing only four walks. The offense for the White Sox was provided by the bats of Dan Palmer, John Trasfaglia and Joe Gore. Defensively, Sean and Zack Fahey, Eric Siegal and Derek Fitzpatrick kept the game close with some outstanding efforts.

White Sox 10, Yankees 1

The Sox bats were as hot as the White Sox defeated the Yankees 10-1. The Sox offense was led by Pat Ryan (13 hits including second homer), also in the three hit parade were "Bubba" McIsaac, J.T. Trasfaglia, and "Hubba" McIsaac. Sean Fahey, Dan Palmer, Chris Murphy and Eric Seagal all chipped in with hits. The Sox got excellent pitching from "Bubba" McIsaac, Dave Fitzpatrick and Sean Fahey.

The Yankees offense came from Beg Stewart, Enwright, M. Stewart and Cory Tobin who crashed a double to centerfield.

Minor League
Giants vs Rangers

The Rangers and Giants opened the season with a very well played game by both teams with the Rangers prevailing by a score of 10-9. After trailing the whole game, the Giants took the lead by two runs in the top of the sixth. The Rangers responded by scoring three runs in the bottom of the sixth culminating with a game ending rbi double by Dan Mills.

Michael Manganeli pitched three strong innings for the Rangers getting all nine out by way of strikeout. Charlie Waitt and Jerry Smith led the offensive attack for the Rangers with two rbis each.

Dan Dellasola pitched well for the Giants and made a couple of nice defensive plays. Sean Crowley and Casey Pickett reached base three times each and scored twice each and Richie Murray knocked in two runs with a linw drive single.

Major League Softball
The Phillies and Padres squared on Monday night in a game the Phillies controlled from the outset. The Padres did take a 2-0 lead in the top of the first, but it was all Phillies after that. The Phillies scored three in the bottom of the first and then seven more in the bottom of the second to take a lead they would never relinquish in their 17-7 victory.

After surviving a shaky first inning in which she gave up two runs on two hits and four walks, Nicole Bradley settled down and was the winning pitcher for the Phillies. She gave up a total of five runs in four innings of work and then Sam Souza relieved in the final two innings, showing good control to earn the save. The Phillies made several nice defensive plays as well. Allison Barne made a nice grab of a line drive at second base to record an unassisted double play with the bases loaded to stop a Padre rally in the fifth inning.

Katelyn Lynch made two nice plays at third base and Lisa Rooker made two nice plays in left field as well. Kim Ciampa also played very well at catcher in her three innings behind the plate.

Offensively, the Phillies attack was led by Kim Ciampa. Lauren Hitchins, Sam Souza, Aly Lyman, and Nicole Bonoccolto, between them had nine hits, and scored 11 runs. Souza and Katelyn Lynch had the biggest hits of the game as they both cleared the bases with booming bases loaded triples.

The Padres were led on offense by Jamie Burns, Gina Rizzo, Alex Siegal, and Jill Manginelli with two hits apiece. Manginelli also scored twice and did belt a long double as one of her two hits. Katie Cole pitched very well in three innings of relief for the Padres, striking out three but the flood gates had already been opened by the time she entered the game.

Rams Track and tennis updates

By KLYE MELINN

Sports Correspondent

If there's a silver lining in Shawsheen Tech's tough tennis season, it's been the play of No. 1 singles player, Jim Thorp.

The senior from Wilmington lost for only the second time this season, 5-2, on Monday to the top player from the Commonwealth Small Conference's top team, Tyngsboro. Thorp (5-2), who has played for the Rams all four years, was leading, 5-3, at one point before falling in the one-game superset, 10-7.

Shawsheen fell to Tyngsboro, 5-0, on their home courts as the team struggles to pick up the momentum they had earlier in the season. After winning their first match of the season to Greater Lawrence, the Rams were 2-0 including a default win over Lowell Catholic.

Coach Peter Back's young team has struggled since then, but he hopes the team can pull together strong individual performances when the Rams head to the C.A.C. Tourney at Greater Lowell on May 15.

"We expect to play better than we have been recently," says Back. "We hope to go through the CACs and fair well. A lot of the kids we have playing are new and there's still things we need to work on."

Senior Frank DelleDonne of Billerica has been playing at No. 2 singles the last few matches. Senior Shawn Farraher of Tewksbury has been playing at No. 3 singles and continues to exhibit his strong work ethic.

At No. 4 singles, freshman J.P. Connor of Burlington is showing a great deal of improvement. The doubles team has been a work-in-progress for coach Back. Sophomores Deon Gray of Wilmington and Catherine Kuzdzal of Tewksbury played No. 1 doubles during the Tyngsboro game, but the two doubles positions have been alternated among Gray, Kuzdzal, senior Rebecca Margeson of Billerica, sophomore Matt Day, sophomore Tom Tringely and freshman Paul Recardo of Burlington. Sophomore Mike Camosio of Tewksbury has tried to come back from an ankle injury, but hasn't played a competitive match this season.

The Rams play again Wednesday at home against Minuteman in its last home game of the season. An away match Tuesday against Greater Lowell closes out the regular season.

Track team takes trifecta.

Joe Kilroy is becoming a regular on the first-place platform for the Rams' track and field team. The Burlington junior won seven first places and one third place last Thursday in Shawsheen Tech's wins over Greater Lawrence and North East at a Commonwealth Small Conference tri-meet.

With the 89-47 win over the Reggies and the 101-35 victory over Northeast, the Rams improve to 4-2 in the league, behind first-place Greater Lowell and Tyngsboro.

"We're progressing very well," says coach Tom Gagnon. "A lot of the kids who haven't placed are sophomores and freshman who have been performing really well. It's helping us form a good nucleus... they're showing good work ethic and that's half the battle."

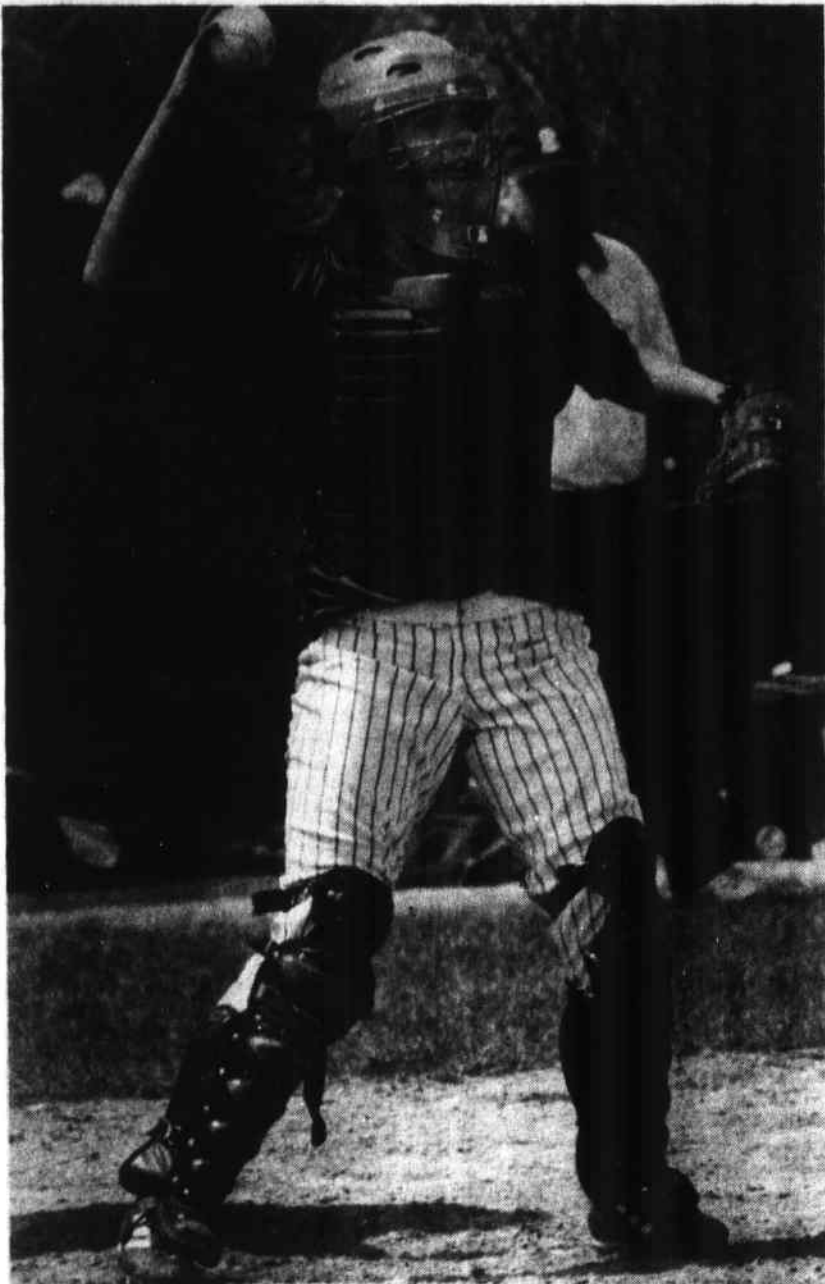

It was Kilroy that took the show again on Thursday, though, claiming a two first places in the long jump with a leap of 18 feet, 1 inch. His leap of 5 feet, 8 inches, was good enough for a first over North East and a third against Greater Lawrence. He won the 110-yard dash with a time of 10.63 seconds and the 220-yard dash with a time of 25.3 seconds.

Also performing well was senior Matt O'Brien of Wilmington, who took a first against Greater Lawrence and a second against North East in the discus with his best throw of 112 feet, 1 inch.

"Matt had a good year as a junior for us, but he's stepping it up this year," says Gagnon. "He really had a good meet for us."

Jeremy Verrocchio took a first and a second in the triple jump with a leap of 36 feet, 6 inches. He also placed second twice in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 23.07 seconds. Pat McLaughlin had a great meet, taking two first places in the shot with a put of 42 feet and two firsts in the javelin with a throw of 118 feet, 9 inches.

Rams softball team takes all three

By JAMIE POTE

Sports Editor

The Shawsheen Tech softball team won three more games this week to up their record to 13-2 overall. This past weekend they traveled to Orleans Mass to take part in the 17th annual Friendship Tournament held at Nauset Regional High School.

On Saturday the Rams defeated host Nauset Regional, 7-4. Shawsheen put together a strong fifth-inning scoring five times thanks primarily to Amy McAdoo who had a big two-run double. On the day she had two hits and 3 RBI, while, Sarah Zimmer and Denise Lazzara combined for 2 hits and a RBI. Wilmington native Christy Johnson got the win on the mound as she struck out seven.

On Sunday, Shawsheen played Martha's Vineyard and came away with an 17-0 victory. Shawsheen combined to score 8 runs in the first two innings behind RBI doubles by Zimmer (two), Christine Greene and Jennifer Miles, while McAdoo and Kelly Gillis both drive in teammates. In the last four innings, Shawsheen combined for another 8 runs behind Miles, who had two hits and 4 RBI, ending the day going 3-for-4, with 5 RBI. McAdoo, Jen Elwell and Kathy Guiney also drove in runs.

Elwell pitched all seven innings for the shutout as she gave up just four hits and continued to show her excellent control as she didn't walk a batter.

"This was a good trip," said coach Buddy Henry. "It's good to get the team away come down here and do some team bonding. We found out that we can hit the ball and we put ourselves in a good position with the two wins. Our pitchers have been phenomenal all season and I can't say enough about them. But we have to improve defensively if we want to get to that next level."

On Monday, the streak of shut-out innings went to 14 as the Rams blanked Lynn Tech, 13-0, behind a no-hitter by Johnson. She really had her stuff going as she struck out 17 of the possible 21 batters and gave up just two walks. As for the bats, Lazzara, Zimmer and Kaitlyn McKenna combined to go 9-for-13 while driving in all 13 runs.

This week Shawsheen has a huge game on Thursday as they will travel to Greater Lowell to take on their league rivals. A few weeks ago the teams hooked up for a terrific battle with Greater Lowell winning 1-0.

Under 10B Boys

The U-10B Boys proved to be too powerful in both offense and defense against their rivals in Wakefield in a 9-1 season opener win last Saturday.

Fueled by multiple goal performances by Danny Dellisola, three goals and Conor Murphy, two goals, along with solo tallies by Matt Hackey, Joe Cerbone and Andrew Cazeau, the Wildcats offense clicked throughout the entire game.

Defense had its say in this victory also holding Wakefield to just one goal throughout the game. Outstanding defensive efforts by Dan Hunt, Matt Morabito and Erick Parsons made for this balanced Wildcat win.

Behind the combine goal keeping of Scott Bonish, who made an exciting jump save in the first half and Dylan Reed who blocked eight tough shots in the second half, the Wildcat team appears to be in good form as it prepares for its next game against Reading.

Recapping the victory, the highlight of the game was the teamwork, effort and enthusiasm by every player on the team. The win was especially sweet for the Wildcats since it was coming off a disappointing four game loss at the North Reading Annual Fall Kickoff the previous week. The kickoff, which is a tune-up to the regular season, gives teams like the Wildcats, who have five new members, a chance to play together for the first time before regular season.

The Wilmington U-10B Boys soccer team opened the season Saturday firing on mile against North East and took second against Greater Lawrence by finishing at 13 minutes, nine seconds. Andrew Gagnon placed first in both meets in the one mile run, crossing the finish line at 5 minutes, 20 seconds.

Rob Varey continued his fine season by taking a first and a second in the 440-yard dash with a time of 61.2 seconds. Junior Pat McGuire won the 330-yard low hurdles with a time of 46.9 sec-all cylinders with a decisive 5-0 shutout victory over Winchester United.

In the first half, Joe Cerbone held Winchester scoreless in net. Offensively, the Wildcats debut Mike Reed, Dan Dellisola and Matt Hackey in the forward positions. With Dan Hunt and Drew Cazeau on defense.

Balancing out Wilmington's offense was Dylan Reed, Matt Morabito and Scott Bonish along with us in the backfield.

While the first half of the season opener was scoreless, Wilmington kept the play in Winchester's end of the field with continuous offensive pressure.

In the second half the Wildcats were in mid season form. Taking a pass from Bonish, who moved the ball past the Winchester line, Mike Reed blasted home the first goal of the game of the season.

Hackey followed with the second goal of the game with a corner kick that was deflected into the net. But the scoring for the Wildcats was far from over.

Defensively, Wilmington showed its mettle when Cazeau, Parsons, Hunt and Dylan Reed turned away a direct kick in Winchester's greatest threat of the game.

Bonish, Morabito and Mike Reed rounded out the scoring with three quick goals, Reed's second of the game, to cap off the season opener.

The Wildcats were without the services of Chris Thibeault who is currently sidelined with an injury, however, this support from the bench was key to this season opening victory.

onds.

Dan Shanahan finished with two second places in the 880-yard run with a time of 2 minutes, 33 seconds. Shanahan teamed up with Gagnon, Chris Lucas and Adam Constanino to win the 4x400-meter relay in both meets.

The Rams close out their regular season on Wednesday against Whittier Tech. The league meet will take place next Monday and Wednesday at Lowell and Chelsea.

Rams a run or two short of Lynn Tech

By KYLE MELINN

Sports Correspondent

Its becoming an all too familiar scenario for Coach Jim DeLuca and the Shawsheen Tech baseball team. The Rams have a chance to pull out a close game, but came up a run or two short. The story repeated itself Monday when Shawsheen had the winning run at the plate, but lost to Lynn Tech, 5-3.

The Rams stranded 12 runners, including six during two innings when the Rams loaded the bases but couldn't bring plate a run. In back-to-back innings, the Rams had runners at second and third with one out and did not score.

"That really hurts," said DeLuca. "We didn't have a big inning when we really could have and that's disappointing." Down 3-0 going into the bottom of the third inning, it appeared DeLuca's between inning pep talk awoke the Rams' sleeping bats. Senior Derek McLaren lined a pitch off the left center fence for a double. He advanced to third on a sacrifice fly from the next batter, Brian O'Hara and scored when the rightfielder overthrew third base.

Catcher Nate Ashe lined Lynn Tech pitcher Andy Lougee's offering over the second baseman's glove for a single and sophomore Michael Spinale kept the rally going by finding a hole on the left side of the infield. A walk to Marc Bourdon left the bases juiced with one out, but an infield pop up and a strike drive.

Junior Brian Corcoran led off the bottom half of the fourth by doubling to centerfield. A grounder to second base advanced Corcoran to third. The next batter, McLaren grounded to the Lynn Tech second baseman, whose throw home was not in time to catch the speedy Corcoran. O'Hara was then hit in the back by Lougee pitch.

Back to back steals by McLaren and O'Hara had runners on second and third with one out, but a strikeout and a ground out killed that rally. Starting pitcher Jeff Joyce was effective in his four innings of work, striking out seven batters, including the side in the fourth inning. While all five runs in the game were scored off him, only three were earned. The sophomore lefty allowed only three hits, but three key errors contributed to Lynn Tech's rallies.

The youngster got into a serious jam in the fifth inning when he allowed two runs and loaded the bases with no outs. Corcoran was called in from left field to take the mound and did an admirable job. The junior right hander struck out the first batter, got the second to ground into a fielder's choice out at home plate, and caused the third to ground out to McLaren at shortstop, officially ending the threat.

The Rams narrowed the score to 5-3 in the sixth inning. With one out, McLaren was hit in the back by a pitch. He stole second for the second time in the game and scored on Ashe's base hit. Shawsheen tried to put a rally together in the seventh inning, but Bourdon was picked off first after an inning starting single. Kevin McCauley lined a single and, with two outs, Corcoran walked to put the runners at the corners. Joyce flied out to centerfield to end the game.

"The pitcher had a nice move," said DeLuca on Bourdon's pickoff. "It happens to everyone. It happens in the big leagues. Could he have played it smarter? I suppose, but when you're down by two runs in the last inning, you need to be aggressive."

Some late inning heroics gave the Rams a 7-5 win over Whittier Tech on Saturday. Nate Ashe had the game winning rbi to lead Shawsheen to the come from behind victory. The team lost to North Shore on Friday, 6-1 but beat Whittier on Wednesday, 11-0, on a combined shutout by Joyce and O'Hara.

Shawsheen Tech has seven regular season games and one makeup game remaining on their schedule. If the Rams can win six of the eight, they will make the playoffs with 10 wins, a milestone the team hasn't reached in years, but one DeLuca thinks is possible if the Rams can close out hot.

"We're going to need to step it up, but I think we can do it," he said. The Rams host Northeast on Wednesday in a non-league game and Minuteman on Thursday in a Commonwealth Small Conference game. Monday, the Rams travel to Tyngsboro. Shawsheen plays three of their last four games on the road.

O'Hara clubs his way to respectability

By KYLE MELINN

Sports Correspondent

Brian O'Hara may lead the Shawsheen Tech baseball team in hitting this season, but lately it's been getting hit that's been O'Hara's forte.

When Lynn Tech pitcher Andy Lougee beamed O'Hara on the elbow in the fourth inning of Monday's game, it marked the third straight game No. 21 has been hit by a pitch.

The senior first baseman from Tewksbury says he doesn't mind taking one for the team now and again, but three times in a row?

"It's been getting almost in the same spot, too," says O'Hara pointing at a spot above his right elbow.

But back to O'Hara's batting. The senior leader was hitting .340 going into Monday's game against Lynn Tech with three homeruns and nine rbis. His sacrifice fly in the third inning helped Shawsheen plate its first run against Lynn Tech on Monday. He also recorded a single to finish the day one for two.

"I'm feeling a lot more confident at the plate this year," he says. "The ball doesn't seem to be coming in as fast and I've been making contact. I've just been going out and having fun."

O'Hara started all 20 games for the Rams last season and is on pace to do the same again this year. His ability to dig balls out of the dirt has kept him at first base, a position he's played since Little League despite not being the tallest the guy on the team at 5' 10".

"I've just always played first base. I've gotten used to it," he says. "I may have to change if I play in college because I'm not a tall or big kid, but we'll see what happens."

O'Hara played first base for Tewksbury Little League team that was one win away from advancing to the Little League World Series team when he was 13 years old. A New Jersey team knocked them out in the tournament's championship game, ending the boys' season, but O'Hara looks back fondly on the time he spent with the team. Back then, his team was dominant.

This year's Shawsheen squad is struggling at 4-8, but the senior says he hopes things will turn around during the last eight games of his senior year of high school. Coach Jim DeLuca says O'Hara has the tools to lead such a late season charge.

"He's the best contact hitter on the team," said DeLuca. "He's only struck out once or twice the whole year and he's been playing well at first base. Not a lot of balls get by him over there. He's stopped a lot of throws that could have advanced runners an extra base or two."

While it's not his favorite thing to do, O'Hara also pitches in relief. One of coach DeLuca's key left handed relievers, O'Hara combined with starter Jeff Joyce on an 11-0 shutout of Whittier Tech on Wednesday. He relies mostly on fastballs and off speed pitches. O'Hara is one of the Rams' silent leaders and maybe one of the team's most intelligent.

His grade point average is well above 3.0 and he's looking at majoring in constructional engineering when he goes to Wentworth next fall. O'Hara, whose older brother Jack is a 1997 Shawsheen Tech alumnus, sent papers to Wentworth on Monday stating his interest to play on the school's baseball team next fall. He doesn't know how he'll fit on the team, if he fits in at all, but he says he's making an effort in his senior year and he's hoping it will pay off.

DeLuca says he's well on his way this season. "If he keeps this pace, he should be an All-Star for us this year," says DeLuca.

Wilmington youth travel soccer highlights

Alley Cats remain hot

After two straight home games, the Wilmington boys U-10 Alley Cats found themselves traveling afar to Wakefield to face the Warriors. Wilmington, 1-0-1 on the young season, was looking forward to extending their unbeaten streak to three.

During a solid first half, Wilmington and Wakefield played to a scoreless stand-off. Goalie Colin Foley was a brick wall between the pipes, stopping nearly a half dozen Wakefield shots. Supported by a defense led by Marty Bamberg and Eric Murray, the Cats were effective in forcing Wakefield's several turnovers.

While the Wilmington defense held the line, the offensive line worked hard against an equally tough Wakefield back. Sean Callahan started the game at center, with Paul Bruce and Mike Murphy on his wings. Playing a physical game, Wakefield proved to be the solid team Wilmington had heard about. By the close of the first half, the forward line of Connor O'Riordan, Tim Patrie and Caleb Rogers had taken their share of shots on the Wakefield goalie. Thanks to the efforts of Evan Butters, Chris Cazeau, and Chris Cieplik on the defense, the first half ended deadlocked at 0-0.

The second half opened up with the same excitement and tension which ended the first. Bamberg took over in the net, with his defense anchored by Cazeau and Cieplik. Murphy, Callahan and Foley took over as forwards. The two teams battled until a lucky bounce on an errant shot allowed Wakefield to take a 1-0 lead. The Alley Cats never gave up. Trying to respond to Wakefield's physical game and offensive attack, Wilmington continued to press with some terrific shots on goal.

The best chance to tie the game came when Patrie, on a pass from Rogers, pushed the ball forward to O'Riordan, who fired a rocket, bouncing hard off the cross bar.

Wakefield controlled the remainder of the game and handed the Wilmington boys their first loss of the season, 1-0. The U-10 Alley Cats have two chances to get back into the win column this week: Thursday afternoon in Woburn and Saturday afternoon in Winchester.

Under 9A Boys

The sun shone brightly on Shawshen Field as the U-9 Wildcats A Team faced their Malden opponents in the second game of the season. Tim Patrie held down the net in the first half, as Eric Murray and Evan Butters demonstrated a solid defense. Sean Callahan, Michael Murphy and Connor O'Riordan played a quick passing game with several scoring attempts, all blocked by a feisty Malden net.

With a shift in the lines came a Malden goal 0-1. Without missing a beat, Paul Bruce made a spectacular breakaway, shooting just wide of the net. Colin Foley and Caleb Rogers tried to make things happen as Marty Bamberg and Chris Cieplik held down the defense. The Wildcats fought tenaciously to regain composure.

O'Riordan made a run on net, only to have Malden's goaltender fall down on the fall. At last, Murphy put the ball between the pipes, with the assist credited to O'Riordan (1-1). Butters and Cieplik made several outstanding defensive maneuvers while Bamberg was a ball dribbling offensive machine. Rogers would score the second goal, assisted by Foley, 2-1.

In short time, Malden scored again, ending the first half of play at 2-2. Goaltender Murphy aggressively defended the Wildcat net, disallowing Malden additional goals while Bamberg, Patrie and Bruce demonstrated keen passing skills from several corner kicks. All the while, Chris Cazeau and Butters made fantastic

Pennsylvania vs Stanford

World Cup game between Pennsylvania and Stanford was played. For Pennsylvania, Courtney See and Lisa Capozzi scored net benders for the team. Amanda Brazell and Catrina Fryer were outstanding on the offense, while Megan Souza and Lauren Zermba played a strong defensive game.

Angelina Amato was the net keeper.

For Stanford Stefany Mason, Samantha Reed, Jessica Lees and Carly Gillis played a great offensive game. Kelly Flaherty, Nicole Neville, Jessica Maienza and Lena Bishop were great defensive support. Sara Alonardo and Kristina Lees were great in the net, making many diving saves.

Harvard vs Rutgers

Great team effort was performed by these two teams with Kerri Spry and Kristen Crosby netted goals for Harvard. Great offensive help was supplied by Shannon O'Brien, Lauren Kelly and Nikki Sirigano. Bridget Blaisdell and Nicole D'Agostino were great help on the defense. Gina Arsenault and Erin Kelly shared the goalie's duties.

For Rutgers they made some great attacks on offense and defense.

Boys second grade division Harvard vs Yale

A tough soccer match between Harvard and Yale saw goals scored by Andrew Spurr, William Prince, Cody Pelletier and Cameron Garratt. Outstanding help on the offensive line came from Andrew Wells and Zack Copp. The defense was lead by Jesse Bozzella, James Mullen and Giancarlo Patriarca. John Malone and Jimmy Bonish were tending net.

For Yale Christopher DiCecce scored for the team. Derrick O'Dea, Matthew Toto, Chris D'Agostino played a great offensive game. Greg Clarkin, Linden Hayes and Thomas Shafer were great support on the defense. Zach Sears was awesome in the net for Yale.

Penn vs Brown

A major league soccer like game between Brown and Penn as both teams worked hard. For Brown, they made many great plays on both the offense and defense.

For Penn Chris Ryan, Sean Hanley, Tyler Heubner, Tyler Stillings and Craig Benard scored for the team.

Shayne Kinsella played an outstanding offensive game with great defensive support from Tyler Stillings. A.J. Bruce was awesome in the net.

Columbia vs Dartmouth

A defensive battle was waged between these two teams with both showing offensive power. For Columbia, Adam Colella, Adam Kline, Steve Dellapelle, James Spears and Brett Kidik scored for the team. Working hard on the offense was Derek Duggan, Jeff Ledger and David Mello. The defense was lead by Eric Antjeo and Marc Sibilia. Brett Kidik was on keeper's duties.

For Dartmouth, Nick Godzyk and Danny McDougall scored for the team. Peter Leighton, Brendan Munro and Mark Doremus supplied the offensive power while Joe Acoin, Kevin Moriarty, Gordon Fitch were the defensive backbone. Jeff Gossens and Francis Cunningham shared the keeper's duty.

defensive moves, robbing the opponent of a potential goal or two.

The final shift of Foley, O'Riordan, and Rogers played a good pass and run game, but no goals would materialize. Foley made a noteworthy head pass off a throw in. Next week, the Wildcats travel to Wakefield to stake their claim.

Under 12 Boys

Intent on bouncing back from the previous week's defeat, Wilmington's U12 Boys 1 soccer team was fired up for its match against Westford. It therefore took little time for Richie Barry to find Tim Kent who fired in the first Wildcat goal. A few moments later, Barry broke away on his own and blasted in the second tally of the day. A nice shot by Eric Legro barely missed the net, allowing Westford to stay with two goals. That lead expanded when Justin Patrie found the net for the third Wilmington goal.

Wilmington continued to apply tremendous pressure throughout the half as any venture by Westford across midfield was immediately repelled by the stellar defensive work of Derek Hanson, Zach Ciampa and Danny Patterson. Back in the offensive zone, Mark Walsh set up Chris Azevedo for the fourth goal of the game. The onslaught continued as Greg Stewart initiated a textbook breakout finding Patrie who fed a charging Dana Steenbruggen for a 5-0 lead. As the first half wound down, Steenbruggen returned the favor, feeding Patrie who rifled in the sixth goal for Wilmington.

In a show of good sportsmanship, the Wildcats made several unusual personnel changes for the second half. This included the replacement of a somewhat bored Brendan Sheehan with goal keeping tyro Dana Steenbruggen in lieu of the regular second half net minder Pat Ryan. Helping to keep the shutout in tact, Brendan DeMango executed a last second block of shot right on net.

From there, Shane Foley and C.J. Jeannette sustained Wilmington's masterful control of the ball. Zach Church made the most of his stint on the front line, banging in the seventh Wildcat goal. In the waning moments, Matt Brooks' bid to notch another tally sailed just wide, leaving the final score of this dominating victory at 7-0.

Riley starts bright future for girls

By KYLE MELINN Sports Correspondent

The future appears bright for Wilmington High School's up-and-coming girls' tennis player, Katie Riley.

The freshman played No. 1 singles last Thursday against Ipswich and won one set against the Tigers' Kyla Sullivan before falling, 4-6, 7-5, 3-6. On Monday against Hamilton-Wenham, Riley took a team-best five games in her two-set loss to Ashley Denton, 1-6, 4-6.

"Katie is a strong player," says co-coach Jen Griffin. "She's a freshman and she's improving with each match. She has good technique and she's a go-getter. She goes after everything. She's always on her feet and never gives up on the court."

Wilmington lost its last three games, 4-1 against Triton, 4-1 against Ipswich and 5-0 against Hamilton-Wenham. But Griffin says the team isn't getting down on itself. Quite the opposite.

"The kids are very motivated and they're keeping their heads up," she says. "They're young and a little inexperienced for the most part. They're making baby steps right now, but they're improving with every match."

Sophomore Holly Flynn picked up Wilmington's one win in Thursday's Ipswich match, beating Heather Finlay, 6-2, 6-4, in No. 2 singles. She was beaten by Kristin Galligan of H-W on Monday, 2-6, 0-6.

The lone win against Triton last Wednesday came from the doubles team of Katie Haepers and Christine Carrozza. Haepers teamed up with Kristy Snow in No. 2 doubles in the Ipswich match and lost 2-6, 6-7, to Christine Bark and Megan Fay of Ipswich.

Carrozza and Haepers were reunited in No. 2 doubles against Jill Hoyle and Lizzy Collett of H-W, but they didn't fair as well, losing, 1-6, 0-6. Allison Flynn and Robin Kanter lost in No. 1 doubles on Monday, 1-6, 0-6.

The No. 1 doubles team of Flynn and Carrozza fell to Madeline Grimes and Kyla Furman of Ipswich, 1-6, 2-6, in the Ipswich match. Robin Kanter played No. 3 singles against Ipswich, falling to Leah Griffin, 4-6, 1-6, in a hard-fought match. No. 1 singles player Kendel O'Dea continues to find herself going up against a buzzsaw in her matches. The senior was swept by talented H-W No. 1 singles player Morgan Sugarbutter, 0-6, 0-6, on Monday.

"The games were very close. They played a lot of long sets, but they're just not getting the final shot," says coach Patti Cushing. "The girls are doing an outstanding job against their (opponents)."

The Jazz Singer

Stoneham's best kept secret, Carol Sloane is singing her way into stardom. This talented musician ranked in the top ten as a jazz singer in Downbeat Magazine Reader's Poll 2001.

(Photo, Eric Stephen Jacobs)

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Traveling around the world and living a dream come true makes up the life of the best kept secret in Stoneham, Carol Sloane, who ranked seventh in the Downbeat Magazine Reader's Poll for 2001 as a jazz singer.

"Getting to know (jazz great) Oscar Peterson, getting to know these (great jazz) musicians and having them know me, that's my dream come true," Sloane said in an interview with Middlesex East.

The jazz greats include Phil Woods, Frank West, Art Farmer, Clifford Jordan, Jimmy Rose, Kenny Baron, Clark Terry and Carmen MacRae. Talking to Sloane is like walking down the aisle of the Jazz Hall of Fame.

MacRae's former accompanist, Norman Simmons, who also played with Joe Williams, is now accompanying Sloane. The two opened their act in a recent engagement at the Stoneham Theatre and Ensemble.

She is celebrating her top 10 ranking by the summer with tours ranging from Boston to Europe. In fact the rest of this year will be so busy for Sloane, she had to leave her position as a host of the Jazz Matinee on Worcester's WICN-FM where she played the tops in Jazz on a daily basis for the past year and a half.

In a good-bye interview on the station's website (wicn.org), Station Manager Brian Barlow stated, "Having Carol Sloane as a regular host for the past year and a half certainly gave WICN a much greater awareness among jazz listeners. In fact, when WICN began broadcasting on the internet, the station received calls and e-mails from around the world due in no small part to Carol's presence."

The tour starts on May 3 in Winnipeg and Toronto and then she comes back home to sing with Boston Pops in Symphony Hall on May 27 and June 3.

After playing some other gigs in New England she is off to Europe to play the North Sea Jazz Festival in July. Sloane will then go to Saratoga, New York and the Algonquin Hotel in New York City.

Sloane, born and raised in Providence, Rhode Island, comes from a musical family, although only her uncle, Joe Rainville, was a professional and helped her to get her start.

"Everybody in my family sang," Sloane said. "We all had good voices. I never learned to read music but my hearing was being trained."

Singing was a family event as she was growing up. The family would go on picnics and an uncle would bring a ukulele along for entertainment after the meal.

Another family event was listening to the radio where Sloane was introduced to the music of Peggy Lee and Ella Fitzgerald, interspersed with shows such as Jack Benny, Burns and Allen and the Boston Red Sox.

At 14, Sloane received her professional break, with the help of Uncle Joe.

She recalled that a group of youths were forming a band and had asked her to sing with them. This idea was not to the liking of her mother.

Rainville was playing piano and saxophone with a group called the Ed Drew Orchestra. He offered his niece the opportunity to sing on Wednesdays and Saturdays with the band.

"My mother wanted me to sing," Sloane recalled. "She couldn't say no."

At 18, Sloane was married to her first husband and stopped singing for a while. However, when her husband was drafted and the couple was sent to Germany, she started her musical career again in local service clubs.

On returning home she started to sing in local lounges in the

Stoneham Theatre hosts summer youth program

The Stoneham Theatre & Ensemble will produce its first annual summer youth workshop beginning July 1, culminating in a production of Peter Pan in early August.

Weylin Symes, acting Artistic Director at the Stoneham Theatre states, "It has been a part of our mission from day one to start a youth theatre program. We're thrilled to be able to offer this opportunity to local children."

Designed for young people ages 8 to 18, the workshop will introduce aspiring performers to basic acting fundamentals. More experienced actors will be given the opportunity to expand their knowledge and craft through fun and creative theatre exercises, improvisation and rehearsing for the show.

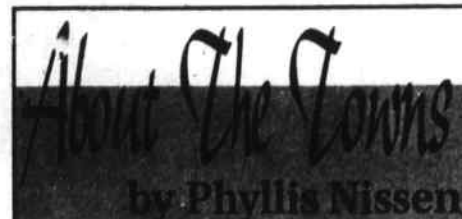

In addition, students will learn dancing techniques, stagecraft and various production aspects. Two special workshops will be featured as part of this year's program: The Art of Auditioning and Make-up Tips for the Stage.

Children's theatre veteran Marcy Holbrook will lead the summer workshops and direct the production of Peter Pan, assisted by a musical director and choreographer. Ms. Holbrook has a long track record of working with young people as a director and drama teacher, directing the spring musical at Melrose High School for the past eight years as well as numerous community shows.

Wakefield resident tours world

"Acclaimed baritone Donald Wilkinson joined the New England String Ensemble principal players recently for performances of Samuel Barber's 'Dover Beach' and Charles Furlong's 'Being Music'."

"A resident of Wakefield's Richardson Avenue, Donald Wilkinson made his European debut performing the role of Dionysos in the world premiere of Theodore Antoniou's opera, 'The Bacchae,' at the Acropolis in Athens, Greece. Recent seasons have included the New York and Boston premieres of Viktor Ullmann's opera, 'The Emperor of Atlantis,' and a U.S. tour of Bach's Missa Brevis in G Minor with Christopher Hogwood and the Handel & Haydn Society. The New York Times praised him for his 'outstanding solo work.' He was featured in Bach's Missa Brevis in G Major and Bach's Peasant Cantata at the Carmel Bach Festival. He can be heard on 'Recordare' of John Harbison with Emmanuel Music on Koch International Classics, and he was featured on Kurt Weill's 'Johnny Johnson' (in the title role of Johnny) on Erato Disques and 'Angels' with the Boston Camerata."

"Mr. Wilkinson has appeared with the symphony orchestras of Boston, Pittsburgh, Jacksonville, Springfield (MA), Portland (ME), and Vermont, the Bach Festivals of Carmel and Philadelphia, Boston Baroque, Boston Cecilia, the Washington Bach Consort, and the Boston Camerata. On the opera stage, he has sung the roles of Marcello in 'La Boheme,' Belcore in 'L'Elisir d'Amore,' Germont in 'La Traviata,' Allazime in 'Zaide,' Sam in 'Trouble in Tahiti,' and Konecny in the American premiere of Janacek's 'Fate.' Since 1984, he has been regular soloist in Emmanuel Music of Boston's famed Bach Cantata series and has participated in three recordings of Schutz motets for Koch International label. In 1990 he was awarded a fellowship to Tanglewood."

Burlington promotes successes

"Kristin Phelps is the town's new conservation administrator," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The Board of Selectmen, at its recent meeting, accepted the appointment from Town Administrator Robert Mercier and waived the 15-day period they would have to overturn the appointment."

"Phelps is the former conservation assistant. She worked under Brian Monahan, who resigned as conservation administrator in November to accept a similar position in Wayland."

"Phelps had previously been out on maternity leave while doing part-time work for the town."

"She (Phelps) is quite a talented individual," said Mercier. "She will be a conscientious and dedicated member of our team and will serve the town well."

"Mercier said Phelps will work a 32-hour week. He said he spoke with Conservation Commission Chairman Larry Cohen about that, and that Cohen had no problem with it."

"Phelps attended Yale University for her undergraduate work and did graduate studies at the University of New Hampshire."

"The selectmen also voted unanimously to waive the 15-day period on Mercier's appointment to the Conservation Commission, Gayle Lima."

"Mercier called Lima 'a very talented individual.' "The town administrator also named three additional appointees to the Growth Impact Task Force."

"There was a consensus at that panel's first meeting in December that more representatives of the business community would be needed."

"The three new people are Todd Fremont-Smith of the Nordblom Co., Joseph Harrington, project manager for the Gutierrez Co., and Phyllis Ettell of Murray Hills Real Estate."

"Mercier announced that two firefighters have been promoted to the ranks of lieutenant - Steve Yetman and John Skinner."

"These are two outstanding firefighters," said the town administrator, who then acknowledged the retirements of lieutenants Donald Robinson and Paul Gerbrands."

"Selectman Chairman Joseph Impemba commended Robinson, saying he had been a firefighter in town since 1969."

"The chairman reported it was the second largest tenure of any Burlington firefighter and that he was 'a great asset to the town.'"

"Donnie is the guy you would want behind you at a fire," said Selectman Albert Fay, who holds the longest tenure (35 years) as a Burlington firefighter. "I would go to any fire with him."

Wilmington joins 'Literacy Council'

According to statistics taken from a 1995 Massachusetts Department of Education survey on Literacy in the Commonwealth, 19% of Massachusetts residents are functionally illiterate," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Out of an estimated 19,000 residents in Wilmington, 2,200 of those residents were found to be functionally illiterate."

"What can be done for adults who lack the basic literacy skills to live their lives to the fullest? Who are unable to comprehend instructions on medicine, food and chemical labels? Who can't help their children with their schoolwork or read to them for pleasure? Who can't obtain citizenship, better housing, a driver's license, a G.E.D. or the equivalent? Read street signs, find their way around through public transportation or go shopping by themselves? Read and write letters, read newspapers, fill out job applications, health insurance forms and other types of paperwork? Demonstrate competency during job interviews? Communicate with co-workers, their children's doctors and teachers, store clerks and next-door neighbors? Follow recipes and write checks? Participate in voting and other important community activities?"

"On May 23, 2000, more assistance became available. The Massachusetts Department of Education approved a grant which allowed the Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council to expand its current service area to include six new towns in Middlesex County. Recently

From S-1

New Bedford and Fall River area. This was when her voice came to the attention of Les and Larry Elgart who were looking for a female singer.

As Sloane recalled she was wrapping up a gig one night and was approached by a man who gave her a business card identifying him as the road manager for the Elgart's band. She accepted the offer to audition for the group.

The brothers were just about to split and Larry Elgart was going to continue with the band. He liked her voice and the rest was history.

Sloane traveled with the band for two years. After that she stayed in New York City where talent scout John Hendricks and Max Gordon, owner of the Village Vanguard heard her sing.

As a result, in 1961 Sloane was asked to sing at the Vanguard as the opening act for Oscar Peterson. That was a memorable year for Sloane as she was invited to sing at the Newport Jazz Festival and recorded her first album.

"Those were prolific years," Sloane said, "just before the Beatles."

The chance for jazz to take over as America's musical art form was placed on the back burner with the onset of Liverpool's Fab Four. However, Sloane still managed to keep working.

In 1969 she accepted an offer to sing in Raleigh, North Carolina and stayed there until 1977. While there she met a horse man and booking agent by the name of Buck Spurr. It was that meeting that would eventually bring them both to Stoneham.

In 1977, Sloane went back to New York where she stayed until 1981. Spurr, who was booking acts into rooms such as the former Starlight Roof in the Howard Johnson's Hotel in Kenmore Square, asked her to come back to Raleigh at that time.

The romance turned into a second marriage for the two of them. Making it special was the fact that Spurr booked the marriage into the Starlight Roof just a few short months before it closed.

After the wedding the two set up housekeeping in Stoneham and Sloane kept on pursuing her career with Spurr as her manager.

Although Sloane is an affirmed international star in the world of Jazz, she has taken an interest in her new hometown.

"I'm traveling all over the world, but I love the idea of living close to Boston," Sloane said.

Stoneham provides her with a sense of peace and stability. She especially enjoys two of the new jewels in town - the new town green and the renovated Stoneham Theatre and Ensemble.

Sloane and Spurr are both giving back to the town. She sits on the Board of Directors for the Stoneham Theatre and Spurr has been booking several well known musical acts into the venue, which was designed with musical concerts, as well as live theater, in mind during the renovations.

This summer will also bring the release of two new CD's featuring Sloane. In July, Concord Records will release "Carol Sloane Ballad Essentials" and her latest recording on High Note Records in September.

Fund raising stamp for breast cancer available

Mother's Day (May 13) is approaching quickly, said postal officials in the Middlesex East Region, while reminding persons they can double the joy of sending mothers (and wives) loving wishes on their special day by using the Breast Cancer Research stamp.

"Now is the perfect time to express your love for your mother or wife by posting your card with this unique fund-raising stamp," said Postmasters John M. "Jack" Driscoll, Reading; John P. Meuse, Woburn; Margaret C. Dimock, Winchester; Richard F. Sweeney, Burlington; Donna M. Legro, Wakefield; Michael C. Quinn, Lynnfield; James R. Quinn, Wilmington and Kathleen M. Goodson, Tewksbury, and Jeffrey P. Roach, officer-in-charge of North Reading Post Office.

They explained the Breast Cancer Research stamp was authorized by Congress. It sells for 40 cents each and the amount of money received in excess of the first class postage rate is donated to help researchers find a cure for breast cancer.

So far, more than $20 million has been raised to fund breast cancer research through the sale of 285 million stamps. The stamp will continue to be sold until the summer of 2002.

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: What two pitchers set a record for longest appearance in a game during the same contest? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The 2001 Northeast-10 Softball All-Conference Teams have been announced, and several local players have made the cut this year. On the team are: Second Team - WOBURN'S ANDREA MESSINA, a sophomore pitcher for Saint Anselm; and WILMINGTON'S MICHELLE MCGONAGLE, a sophomore firstbaseman for Assumption.

TEWKSBURY'S MATT PETROS was two for four for the UMass-Lowell baseball team in a 6-1 win over Merrimack College, knocking in runs in the second and fourth inning.

WAKEFIELD'S EVAN GREENE was 4 for 5 with two RBIs and two runs scored from the leadoff position for the UMass-Lowell baseball team in a 9-3 win over Merrimack College.

READING'S JAMIE GATH received a Bentley College Weekly Sports Award recently for his efforts on the baseball team. Gath hit .450 with 11 RBI, two homers, seven stolen bases and 11 runs scored as Bentley won six of its eight games. Gath slugged .725 for the week and handled 42 chances at second without an error. In a three game set against New Hampshire College, Gath homered in the 12th inning of a win in game one and smacked an RBI-double in the 13th inning of a game three victory.

WAKEFIELD'S MARGARET LILJEDAHN, a freshman member of the Assumption College women's track team, placed first in the long jump at the Tri-State Championship at Bryant College with a distance of 16 feet, 10 inches.

WAKEFIELD'S MERRILL STEAD, a sophomore member of the Assumption College women's track team, placed third in the 10,000M at the Tri-State Championship at Bryant College with a time of 48:14.

Billerica Legion baseball tryouts will be held May 20 at Billerica High School from 2-5 pm. Players from Burlington, Tewksbury, Wilmington and Shawshen Tech, ages 15-18, are eligible to play for the squad.

Call Dan Ryan at 978-663-0890 for more information.

Need some clues to help out with the above mentioned trivia question? One of the pitchers played for the Brooklyn Robins.

READING'S DAVID POLCARI, a sophomore member of the Merrimack College baseball team, went 3 for 4 with a pair of RBI in a 22-5 loss to Southern Connecticut.

WOBURN'S JARROD SCRIBNER hit a double and scored a run for Bentley College in a 5-3 win over the College of Saint Rose in college baseball action.

During the banquet for the READING-LYNNFIELD BOYS SWIM TEAM, All Star certificates were presented to senior captain MATT BOYD, SOPHOMORES CHRIS MEYFARTH AND REID SACCO, and freshman CHRIS SNOW for being the Middlesex League champions in the 200-yard Medley Relay and for finishing in the top three individually at the league championship meet.

BURLINGTON'S SEAN MCGOWAN is a step away from making the major leagues with the San Francisco Giants, as he is currently playing well with the Triple A Fresno Grizzlies. He currently has a .478 batting average with 11 hits in 23 at bats, and his totals include a double, two home runs, and three RBIs.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The two pitchers are Joe Oeschger of the Boston Braves and Leon Cadore of the Brooklyn Robins, who each pitched all 26 innings in a game in 1920 that ended in a 1-1 tie. The game lasted just under four hours, and only three baseball were reportedly used in the game.

DAIRY FARMING AT WENHAM MUSEUM

Cows in the Parlor: New England Dairy Farmers and their Land, at the Wenham Museum May 19 through September 9, is the story of New England dairy farmers - how they produce and market their milk - and the future of their livelihoods and their land. The Thompson Gallery has been turned into a farmyard, complete with barn, milking parlor, and silo, in which to explore the workings of a dairy farm and learn about cows.

Cows in the Parlor will explain the economics of the fluid milk market. Many family dairy farms face economic difficulties due to rising land prices, low and fluctuating milk prices, development pressures, and health scares about dairy and beef products. Producing value-added products is one of several contemporary alternatives for the New England dairy farmer who wants to continue his or her legacy and the tradition of the family farming. As an example, the exhibit will highlight farmstead camembert cheese production.

Cows in the Parlor: New England Dairy Farmers and their Land is particularly timely as the federal vote to continue the Northeast Dairy Compact, which regulates the farm price of fluid milk in the northeast, will be taken by September 2001. Some believe the outcome of the vote will impact the viability of New England's family dairy farms and our regional fluid milk supply. On June 6, agriculture commissioners and officials from 6 states will come to the Wenham Museum to attend the monthly meeting of the Northeast Dairy Compact Commission.

Cows in the Parlor: New England Dairy Farmers and their Land is sponsored in part by the Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture, funds in memory of James R. Reynolds and other private sources.

For more information, please call the Wenham Museum (978) 468-2377. The Wenham Museum invites visitors of all ages to explore how we have lived, dressed, worked and played from the 17th century to today.

The Wenham Museum is located at 132 Main Street (Route 1A), Wenham, MA. and is open Tuesday - Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., closed Mondays. Admission is $5 for Adults, $4 for Seniors, $3 for Children two and up. The Museum is handicapped accessible.

Local artists host hospice auction

It all started with a desire to create a piece of art made by many different hands. Being an artist can be a solitary life and out of this came a wish to create with others. Heather Maguire, owner of Heather on the Hill in Winchester, contacted six of her local artists with the idea of a group project. Each of these artists sells their work or is referred for custom work through the gallery.

The group decided to donate the finished pieces to a charity and found a perfect match with Hospice Inc. based in Stoneham. This charity was chosen as the Boston charity for a project called Jan's House of Hope.

Jan's House of Hope is a fully landscaped decorator show house that is currently being built on a barge in Portsmouth, New Hampshire. The entire house will float down the eastern seacoast this summer stopping first in Charlestown. The Commandant's House at the Charlestown Navy Yard will host the June 7th gala reception at which the entire body of work will be sold at silent auction.

The group had already decided to create a fantasy little girls' room. Inspired by the event at which their artwork would be sold, an underwater theme was chosen. Diane Rodrigues and Esther Dagle who paint together at "Sister Endless Art" are painting a beautiful four post bed.

Denise Randall is a contemporary painter specializing in whimsical images of dogs and cats. She is donating a wall clock and mirror painted in her trademark bright and graphic style. Jillian Mitchell who is a long time professional mural and faux finish artist had a child's size vanity that she had wanted to paint for a long time. She painted the vanity and stool with oversize shells and added a bold fish fabric skirt.

Janet Santaniello is also a mural and faux finish artist with a love for painting children's murals. She chose to create a nightstand for secret treasures. Adrian "Gigi" Medeiros is an artist on the go. She not only sells her work at Heather on the Hill, she also has been selected to display at the Decorova Museum as well as for an open studio show this summer in Manhattan.

They are located at the Window at Heather on the Hill through June 7th. The public is encouraged to view and bid on any of the pieces. For more information about any of the artists involved or Jan's House of Hope please contact Heather at 781-721-6630.

Health & Medicine

May is "Asthma and Allergy Awareness Month"

May is national "Asthma & Allergy Awareness Month" for a good reason. This is a peak time for the appearance of allergies from trees, grasses and weeds that make millions of Americans sneeze, wheeze, cough and itch.

One in every five people suffers from some type of allergy, which can take the form of allergic rhinitis "hay fever", asthma (a reaction in the lungs), skin allergies, eye allergies and even the systemic life-threatening reactions called anaphylaxis (which comes from allergies to foods, insect stings, latex and medications).

Allergies appear to be more evident in the spring when plants blossom, people come out of their winter hibernation routines and allergic rhinitis symptoms are widely seen in public. However, asthma affects one in every eighteen people, and can be triggered by allergies year round to dust mites, molds, and animal danders. Throughout the year about three percent of the population is at risk for severe anaphylactic reaction. Even allergic rhinitis can need attention throughout the year, because of indoor allergies, spring pollen allergies, and fall ragweed allergies.

The key to managing allergies and asthma is to:

- identify the thing that trigger and individual's allergies
- try to avoid those things
- use medications or allergy injections to control the symptoms that can't be avoided.

Allergy tests and detailed discussions with an allergy specialist help to identify an individual's allergy and asthma triggers: the Asthma & Allergy Foundation of America/New England Chapter (AAFA/NE) then can provide you with information about ways to avoid exposure to triggers and types of available medications.

For further information, contact AAFA/NE at 877-2-ASTHMA or visit www.asthmaandallergies.org.

Feinstein photography on exhibit through July 1

The Arthur Griffin Center at 67 Shore Road, Winchester, will present Harold Feinstein: A Garden of Psalms One Hundred Flowers from May 12 through July 1.

This exhibit features a breathtaking collection of flowers by celebrated master photographer Harold Feinstein; featuring luscious portraits of flowers in enormous scale. Feinstein writes, "To reveal the miracle of what I believe to be God's creations has been my path with the camera...we have ceased to see the life in which we live. It is my intent to cause the viewer to revisit the gifts we are surrounded by and see them as if for the first time."

Harold Feinstein's career is long and varied. In 1950, Edward Steichen purchased his work for the permanent collection of the Museum of Modern art. His work has been collected and exhibited by other major museums, including the International Center for Photography, the George Eastman House, and Musee d'Art Modern in Paris.

The Arthur Griffin Center is open Tuesday through Sunday from noon until 4:00 p.m. Admission is $5 Adults, $2 seniors, members, students and children free. On Thursdays admission is free. The Center has parking and is handicapped accessible. For more information call 781-729-1158 or www.griffincenter.org.

Toll free number is available for appeals to the IRS

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has a new toll-free help line for questions related to the Appeals process, an independent review of IRS case findings. The number is 1-877-457-5055.

"The toll-free service will make it easier and more convenient for taxpayers to obtain assistance on Appeals issues," said Appeals deputy area director Gerald T. McMahon.

Previously, each of the 33 appeal offices nationwide used a local number that was not toll-free. Now, the system will automatically route Massachusetts callers to the Boston appeals office site Monday through Friday, from 8 am to 4:30 pm.

Taxpayers may call for help in preparing their appeals of an IRS Collection or Examination matter. They may also use this service after their tax matter has been transferred to Appeals. Appeals officers will assist taxpayers during their administrative appeal, as well as handle complaints regarding the Appeals process.

For more information about the Appeal operation, visit the recently updated Appeals section of the IRS Web site at www.irs.gov/prod/ind_info/appeals.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

A 'Jewel' of a teacher in Woburn

"The School Committee got an unexpected visit from a dozen or so hieroglyphics-wearing fourth graders at its recent meeting," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Art teacher Jewel Paur, who is retiring at the end of this year, said the students had produced some great work as a result of the interdisciplinary project and 'it didn't seem right to let it all go without someone seeing it and enjoying it.'"

"The art department has been trying to coordinate its work with the curriculum frameworks of other departments, Paur noted; these projects tied into the social studies curriculum, she said.

"The fourth graders (Paur teaches at the Wyman, White and Goodyear elementary schools) created masks, pyramids, cartouches and T-shirts with the cartouches traced onto them and neat backgrounds and decoration added.

"After the students paraded their T-shirts before the committee members and the cable television camera, Paur thanked the parents for bringing their children out on such a cold night. She said she appreciated the children coming and 'know that they enjoyed doing all the Egypt work.'"

"Paur designed the project after she herself took a trip to Egypt, visiting the famous pyramids, taking a cruise down the Nile and taking photographs of heartbreaking 'rug schools' which were on every street corner, she said, and where young children's fingers were bleeding they were working so furiously.

"She said the 'schools' should make everyone here thankful for

New holistic workshop

A new Workshop in Medication & Watercolor is being offered at Union Hospital's Wellness Center in Lynn, and also at the Huggins Center for alternative therapies in Melrose. This four hour workshop offers a new pathway to creative inner peace & relaxation while also teaching the basics of watercolor painting.

This program is being presented by Gayle Lerman, Melrose artist and art therapist. Gayle has the unique ability to teach the beginning student to paint, and to guide them in bringing their piece of artwork to completion. For information call Union Hospital at 781-477-3853 or Huggins Center at 781-662-4474.

Future perfect, present perfection, past tense public schools.

"In her introduction, Assistant Supt. of Curriculum Dr. Louise Nolan said Paur is retiring this year and 'we'll miss her a great deal.'"

"Paur has long been involved in curriculum development and initiated numerous fun, creative projects for her students."

Strategic planning in Tewksbury

"We have a five year strategic plan," said Superintendent of Schools Dr. Christine McGrath in the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"The goals and objectives that I have as superintendent and as a member of the Administrative Team are closely aligned with those goals.' One of the primary goals ... is to continue work toward improving the test score performance on the MCAS.

"More importantly,' Dr. McGrath said, 'to develop the skills within our students that they need to be successful not only on the test but in life.' She said that skills such as computation ability, written expression, and a working knowledge of language mechanics are necessary for their future.

"Another goal is the Wynn School renovation project. Dr. McGrath said the Administration's goal is to work closely with the Wynn School Building Committee on the development of plans and specifications. She said that the Administration plans to take the current programs and align them with the new mechanical systems.

"A third goal is the housing necessary to accommodate the Wynn School Project for the 2001-2002 school year. 'It is a huge and very challenging enterprise,' said Dr. McGrath. She said that approximately 760 7th and 8th graders are being relocated for the school year. Seventh graders will be split between the Ryan School and the Center School. Eighth graders will be relocated to Tewksbury Memorial High School.

"We are moving the Administration to the Dewing School,' said Dr. McGrath. The business offices will be relocated to a converted area of Center School....

"The fourth initiative goal is District Security. 'An outside section of the budget that was passed in Massachusetts, which is called Section 363, mandates that Superintendents meet annually with the Fire and Police Chief's to develop a thoughtful district security plan,' said Dr.

McGrath. 'I am pleased to say we're ahead of the curve.' She said that they have a district security team and have done simulations in the event of a bomb threat.

"Each of our schools define a process and are now developing protocols for responding to critical incidents that are not bomb threats,' said Dr. McGrath. She said that one of the incidents they are preparing for is like what happened to the Columbine school. 'We certainly hope it never happens here, but we are developing a plan in the event it does.'"

"She said that they've included responding to potential disasters in the plan. If a train wreck occurs in close proximity to the North Street School or there is a chemical spill, the response will be part of the District Security Plan.

"She said that in general, the Department is continually working toward the overall alignment of the curriculum with the state frameworks. 'We're currently piloting a new math program at the elementary level,' said Dr. McGrath. She said that Dr. Joseph Walsh, Director of Curriculum, has textbooks on display from the math program at TMHS.

"Mr. Aylwood just informed me that we received some impressive test score results on our test plan...."

Savoring history in North Reading

"Massachusetts is losing its heritage as older neighborhood schools needlessly fall to the wrecking ball and are replaced by new educational facilities, said Margaret Dyson, president of Historic Massachusetts, a non-profit advocacy group," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Speaking at a lecture in Town Hall, North Reading's Dyson said short-sighted policies promulgated by the state School Building Assistance Bureau have contributed to this trend, which she sees as threatening to rob the state of its historic school buildings.

"Dyson's lecture was attended by about 15 people and was sponsored by the Coalition for Community Preservation, a local citizens group that is the driving force in the movement to preserve and expand North Reading's Batchelder School rather than construct a new elementary school at Swan Pond...."

"The Mummy Returns"

BY PAUL FEELY

MOVIE: "THE MUMMY RETURNS"

GRADE: **

Review: The first of the big-budget, summer movie spectacles arrived in theaters this weekend, as the cast from 'The Mummy' reunites to take on everyone's favorite undead Egyptian one more time.

Brendan Fraser reprises his role as an Indian Jones-like tomb raider, and this storyline picks up nine years after the first movie. He has since married the heroine from the first film, played by Rachel Weisz, and the couple have a son that is constantly getting into trouble. The plotline revolves around the quest for a bracelet that controls the Scorpion King (played by World Wrestling Federation star The Rock), the ultimate warrior who commands an army of undead soldier that can wipe out the world. Both the Mummy (once again brought to life) and Fraser are racing to find the Scorpion King's tomb, but for different reasons, and they encounter each other in several battles along the way.

The special effects are state-of-the-art, but Fraser's acting leaves something to be desired. Fans of the The Rock will be disappointed, as he appears in the first three minutes of the film, than makes another appearance through computer animation near the end.

SHORTTAKES

MOVIE: "DRIVEN"

GRADE: **

Review: Sylvester Stallone tries to capture the magic he created the last time he directed and starred in a movie, 'Rocky' in this flick about the world of auto racing.

He's not as lucky this time around. Stallone plays an aging racing champion who is coaxed out of retirement by a businessman played by Burt Reynolds, who wants Stallone to race against an old nemesis, a hot shot young racer who also happens to be married to Stallone's ex-wife. There's the usual confrontational scenes, as well as the expected one-up-manship on the racetrack, as the drivers use their cars more as weapons than vehicles.

There are some spectacular car crash scenes, and fans of racing will not be disappointed, though the average moviegoer might be.

MOVIE: "EXIT WOUNDS"

GRADE: *

Review: 'Exit Wounds' will send viewers headed for the nearest Exit sign a few minutes after it starts, because this one is a waste of perfectly good film.

Steven Seagal returns (why?) to the big screen as a cop investigating the ruthless and corrupt members of his department, and he's joined by rapper DMX. A complete waste of time.

YOUR PET'S LONG LIFE

Aging pets have changing needs. Owners can help pets enjoy their later years by responding to their needs, monitoring their health, and making yearly appointments with the veterinarian. Senior pets are susceptible to several ailments that also plague aging humans, including disease of the liver, heart, or kidneys, tumors and cancer, diabetes, depression, and even Alzheimer's disease. An annual physical exam will alert owners to potential problems before they become too serious of untreatable. A healthy diet, low in fat and high in fiber, accompanied by plenty of water will keep a pet nutritionally balanced and feeling strong. Exercise and playtime is essential to keep a pet's senses sharp. Protection from the elements-especially extreme cold or heat-is critical.

P.S. Incontinence and an increasing intolerance to youngsters are common in older pets and require an owner's understanding.

Preventive care is the best way to keep your pet healthy. We offer physical examinations, vaccinations, dental care, dietary management, and surgical services.

Quality and spaciousness

Situated near picturesque North Reading Center and routes 62, 93 and 128, there is a small, elegant circle of substantial colonial homes which exude a sense of stability, quality and spaciousness. Toward the end of this circle 11 Parsonage Lane is set majestically and privately on its manicured acre.

Cut Stone walls and exterior lighting highlight aggregate stone walkways. The home itself is crafted of cedar clapboard and old brick. The overall facade is classic garrison colonial. Upon entrance, ceramic tile is found underfoot. The entrance hall boasts a large closet. To the right, the living room offers hardwood flooring, crown moldings and a large fireplace with wood mantel. Throughout the home, the natural woodwork stained in fruitwood is evident and provides a warming influence.

The dining room also boasts hardwood flooring and crown moldings with a distinctive mirrored wall adding to the intimate atmosphere. In addition, Anderson casement windows provide a vista to the front yard and a spot for collectable display items.

The kitchen is truly a cook's dream. Rich oak cabinetry, gleaming ceramic tile and tiffany lamps combine to create a warm and light space. A set of sliding doors lead to an oversized deck. Adjoining the kitchen is the Great room. Encompassing over 400 square feet, this room offers built-in cabinetry, a full-length fireplace in old brick and vaulted ceilings. A half bath is found off the hallway.

An oak adorned stairway leads to the second level. The master bedroom is front to back and hosts a walk-in closet. A full bathroom is found beside the closet. There are also three other good size rooms and another bath on this floor.

The lower level sports tile flooring and plaster walls. This area is immediately adjacent to the two-car garage and a spectacular gunite in-ground pool surrounded by beautiful stamped concrete decking and again, extensive landscaping. 11 Parsonage Lane, North Reading can be viewed by contacting Private Properties in North Reading at 978-664-0707 or Lynnfield at 781-334-0005. This property is offered at $679,000.

Conserve energy and save dollars on your electric bill

Skyrocketing electric bills. Blackouts, Brownouts. As electricity becomes more scarce and more expensive, you can help yourself, the environment and the economy by taking some simple steps to conserve power.

According to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), lighting accounts for 20 to 25 percent of all electricity used in the United States. That's why the Leviton Institute recommends that you install energy-efficient lighting devices. They can have a big impact by significantly reducing electric consumption.

Here are four tips from the Leviton Institute that can take the effort out of saving dollars on your electric bill.

1. Install dimmer switches. By dimming the lights in a room, you use less electricity. For example, a light bulb at 50 percent brightness uses approximately 40 percent less electricity. A dimmer switch, also extends the life of your bulbs. A bulb at 50 percent brightness will last approximately 20 times longer.

2. Install occupancy sensors. An occupancy sensor automatically turns lights on when someone enters a room, and then turns them off after the person leaves the area. They're ideal for closets, hallways, the laundry room and garages - all the places where lights may needlessly be left on for hours, or even days. Occupancy sensors are designed to replace standard wall switches, so they're easy to install.

3. Install motion detectors outside. Many homeowners know that outdoor lighting makes their home less appealing to a burglar. But keeping outdoor floodlights on all night can be expensive. Instead, install a motion detector to control your outdoor security light. Motion detectors are designed to react to body heat. When they detect the presence of a person, they automatically turn on the outside lights. When they no longer detect the presence of body heat, they turn the lights off.

4. Install digital timers. If anyone in your family has left a bathroom exhaust fan on all day, you'll appreciate the convenience of timers and the fact that they can reduce energy consumption. The latest digital timers are installed right in the wall, wherever you would put a standard wall switch. Some models come from the factory with preset time intervals; others offer programmable time settings. To use a timer with a preset interval, simply push the button for the length of time you want the fan or lamp to be on. The timer will turn it off automatically. You can use digital timers with longer time intervals to control landscape lighting.

So, instead of constantly reminding your family to turn off the lights when they leave a room, consider installing one or more of these new electrical devices. They take the effort out of saving electricity and they'll pay for themselves quickly with the amount of electricity they save.

Air conditioning systems: Do you know how they work?

Let's face it, central air conditioning has become an integral part of the American homeowner's lifestyle.

A recent study shows that seven out of every ten new homes built today include central air conditioning as a standard feature.

Thousands of other homeowners are adding central air to their existing homes.

Yet, how many owners or prospective owners of central air conditioners know how the system works?

According to a recent study by the Tran Home Comfort Institute, not that many.

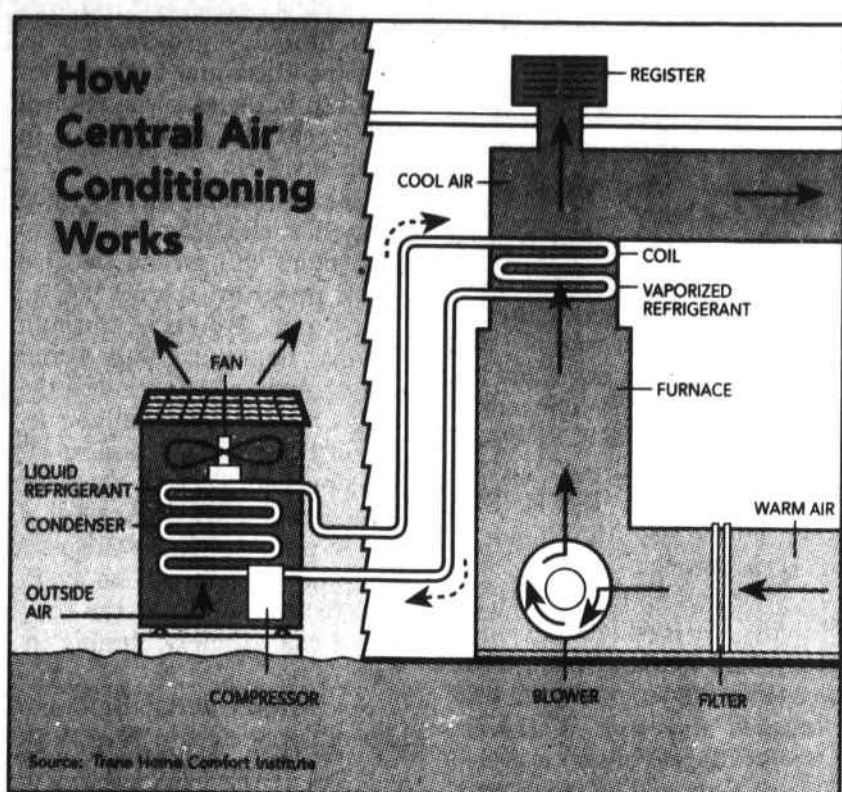

To help you understand how this integral part of your home operates, the Tran Home Comfort Institute offers this simplified explanation:

A central air conditioning system essentially consists of two parts: the coil which extracts unwanted heat and humidity from your home, and the condenser, which discharges the unwanted heat to the outdoors.

Most residential air conditioners are split systems, meaning that the coil is located indoors and the condenser, outdoors. When the coil and the condenser are both located outdoors in the same unit, the system is called a packaged system.

In a split system two copper tubes called refrigerant lines connect the indoor coil and outdoor condenser.

The lines are filled with a chemical refrigerant which has

Experts at the Tran Home Comfort Institute explain that in a central air conditioning system, a liquid refrigerant travels in a closed loop between the condenser located outside the house and the coil located inside the house. As it travels through the coil, it evaporates from a liquid to a vapor, absorbing heat from indoor air. As it travels through the condenser, it turns back into a liquid, releasing that heat to the outdoor air. The compressor is the pump that circulates the refrigerant through the loop.

a boiling point low enough that it evaporates at relatively low temperatures and takes heat and moisture out of the air as it passes through the coil. The refrigerant travels in a closed loop between the coil and the condenser.

The loop begins as the liquid refrigerant passes through the coil, which is a network of tubes located on top of the furnace.

As the refrigerant travels through the coil, it evaporates from a liquid to a vapor, absorbing heat by cooling the air passing around the coil. The furnace blower distributes the cooled air through ducts into the interior of the house.

Meanwhile, the vaporized refrigerant moves through the suction lines to a compressor in the outdoor unit. The compressor compacts the vapor and moves the hot refrigerant gas under high pressure through the condenser, which is a network of tubes exposed to outdoor air. As the refrigerant travels through these tubes, it cools and returns to a liquid. The heat released during this condensation process is dispersed into the outdoor air by a fan.

The refrigerant then flows through the liquid lines from the condenser back to the coil inside the house and the cycle begins again.

The compressor is considered "the heart of the system" because it is the pump that circulates the refrigerant through the loop. Because of its importance, experts at the Tran Home Comfort Institute recommend that you look carefully at the compressor's reputation and warranty.

They also recommend checking the SEER or Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating, which is an indication of a unit's efficiency. The higher the SEER, the higher the efficiency. The higher the efficiency, the less electricity needed to cool your home. Federal regulations now require that all split systems have a SEER of 10 or higher.

In addition it's important to note that an outdoor condenser can be combined with dozens of different indoor coils. To obtain the rated efficiency, make sure the capacity and SEER of the indoor unit matches that of the outdoor unit.

Finally, you want your new central air conditioning system to operate for a long time, so compare the reliability and durability features of the equipment you select to get the most for your money.
